

for hours last night grapple for the machine. They located it some yards downstream at a late hour. Efforts to raise it and recover the bodies will be made today. Some of the crew on the police boat declare they saw the form of a man, when they first came on the scene. He was said to have been in midstream. The police called:

"Hold on, we'll get you!" But the man was exhausted and sank suddenly without a sound. William Clark of 5422 South California avenue told the police he had met two eye witnesses of the accident, but they were not able to locate them. Lieut. Joseph McGeehan of the Maxwell street station was in charge of the police detail working to recover the bodies.

RELATED TO LASKER. Mr. Warner was a brother-in-law of Albert Lasker, president of the Lord & Thomas Advertising company. Mr. Warner was an enthusiastic worker in the Boy Scouts organization, and was interested in settlement work. Mr. and Mrs. Lasker are in New York. The Warners were taking the other members of the party to their homes after the entertainment. The two survivors, as they heard an electric gong. Mrs. Warner said the car was not going more than fifteen miles an hour, and that every ordinary precaution was observed by Mr. Warner in driving.

"The same accident might have happened to any party," she said. "It was not due to our carelessness, but to city neglect in not having the approaches properly guarded."

BRIDGETENDER'S STORY. William McKinley, the bridegroom, says that he swung the bridge back as soon as he was aware of the plunge and aided Policeman John Gavin in organizing the rescue work. He declares the electric warning signals did not work after the accident, but contends they did before. Both rescued women deny this.

"I had turned the bridge to allow a tug and derrick to pass north when the automobile ran up to the edge and fell over," said McKinley. "I gave a warning whistle to the tug at the north side of the bridge, which brought it back to the rescue of the women."

The boy scouts were still practicing for the big drill which was to be given Wednesday under the Warners' supervision when word of the tragedy reached the Maxwell street settlement. Half a hundred of them hurried to the scene to aid in the search for the bodies.

Miss Jennie Klausner is also a student at the University of Chicago and according to a rumor was engaged to marry Kusel. She is a daughter of Solomon Klausner, a wealthy real estate dealer.

Miss Lillian Klausner, one of the cousins of the bride, was also in the automobile, the daughter of Samuel Klausner, wealthy wholesale liquor dealer, with offices at 2945 Archer avenue.

WOMEN TELL OF ESCAPE. Miss Sarah Bernstein and Mrs. Hugo Warner, the two women who were pulled from the river after the motor car plunge, told the story of their thrilling escape, after they had regained their composure at the Cook county hospital.

"I was in the locked back of the limousine," said Miss Bernstein, "chatting with Miss Lillian Klausner and Miss Minnie Klausner. I didn't see the open bridge. In fact, I was not aware where we were, so interested was I in the conversation. My first knowledge of danger was when the machine seemed to drop from under me. The next I knew it was cold and wet. I felt someone clutching at my feet. As soon as I was able to get up, I saw that we had been one of the Klausner sisters. Then the convulsive working of my limbs threw off the grip, and I felt I was rising. I don't remember that I was excited."

HOLDS HER BREATH. "I consciously held my breath, and in a few moments came to the surface. Then I saw a light which I knew must be on shore and swam toward it."

"I caught hold of a beam in the levee and held on. Then some men on shore held a long pole out for me to grasp and I was lifted on shore. I can't imagine how I escaped from the closed limousine. Possibly I unconsciously opened the door and, when the car heeled over in the water, floated free. While I was clinging to the levee beam Mrs. Warner struggled through the current and managed to grasp the same beam a dozen feet below me. I was too exhausted to lift myself from the water, and she appeared to require all her strength to hold her grip. Because came just in time for both of us."

MRS. WARNER'S STORY. Mrs. Warner, who occupied a seat in front of the limousine with her husband and Sylvan Kusel, both of whom are interested in settlement work, only cleared herself from an entanglement with the wheel by a vigorous effort and the aid of one of the doomed men in the seat beside her.

"We were running on the approach to the bridge, which apparently was closed. We did not notice any signs, and I don't remember feeling the shock of any sort of barricade. Suddenly we dropped. I fell forward among the tangle of gear in the bottom of the machine. The next instant we were in the water. My clothes were caught in the pedal apparatus and I tried to wrench free."

SWIMS TO SHORE. "Then some one, I don't know whether my husband or Mr. Kusel, began to pull my clothing free. An instant later the hands working under the water thrust me clear of the car and I came to the surface."

"I swam for the shore and was pulled out by men who ran to my assistance. When I reached the bank I saw a form above me clinging to a beam, which later proved to be Miss Bernstein. I did not see the form of either my husband or Mr. Kusel and don't know whether either succeeded in getting clear of the car."

KUSEL PARENTS VISIT SCENE. After midnight, while the police boat still tacked the channel draw, patiently, methodically searching the waters with grapples, an automobile sped up on the bridge and stopped. A man, with a woman talking on his arm, stepped out, and together they went over to the bridge rail.

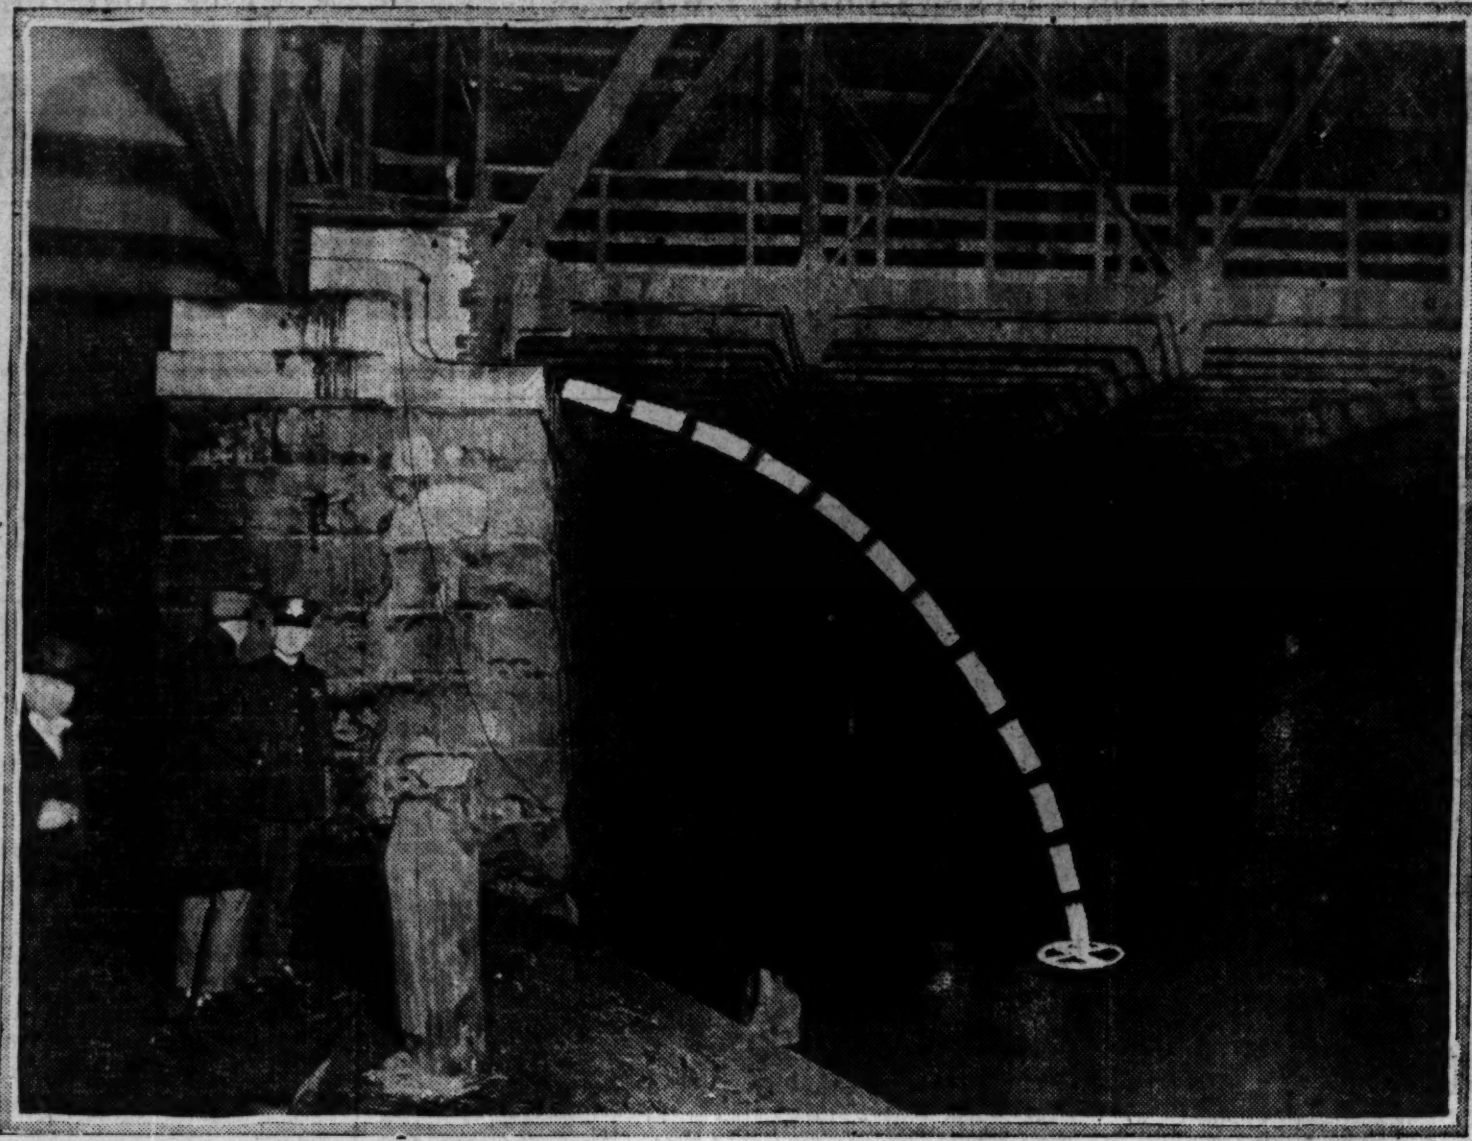

"My son! My son!" moaned the woman, stretching her arms towards the river.

"Our only boy," said the man brokenly, drawing his companion more closely to him. Then, when the woman's grief seemed imminent to overpower her, he guided her gently back to the automobile and the equipage rolled away.

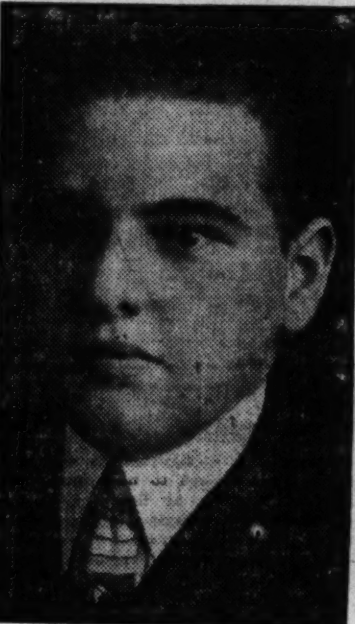

The man and woman were Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Kusel, parents of Sylvan Kusel, the University of Chicago student who died in the plunge. Mr. Kusel is the manager of the Strong-Heart Novelty company. He declared his son would have been graduated from the law department of the university next June.

CHARGE LAWYER POSED AS AGENT OF U. S. IN PLOT

Charged with participating in a conspiracy to impersonate a federal secret service agent, Harold W. Jirka, a Chicago attorney, was arrested last night by Deputy United States Marshal Thomas Sheehan and placed in the county jail in default of $5,000 in bonds. His associate in the alleged conspiracy, Robert H. Garrick, a University of Missouri graduate, already is under arrest in San Francisco on charges of wife abandonment.

Jirka, who declares himself a protégé of Charles B. Morrison, master in chancery of the United States District court, first ran afoul of the federal government in connection with the investigation of the so-called blackmail syndicate. Through two girl clients, Doris Byrne and Peggy Reed, he collected $15,000 from Franklin Junkerman, a wholesale druggist of Cedar Rapids, Ia. Federal agents investigated the transaction, which Jirka characterized as perfectly ethical, on a basis of injury to the girls.

Under indictment, Clabaugh says, according to Hinton G. Clabaugh, division chief of the bureau of investigation, Jirka was indicted last week in Los Angeles on the charge of conspiring to defraud Fred A. Stock, a stock broker of San Diego, out of $1,000 by Garrick's impersonation of a secret service agent.

In the warrant sworn out for Jirka's arrest last night it is charged that Jacob Weinberger received the money from Stock, "in return to be paid to the said defendants, Jirka and Garrick, in violation of section 37 of the penal code." Section 37 covers conspiracy to violate section 32, which prohibits impersonating of federal officers.

It is alleged the conspiracy was consummated in San Diego on or about Aug. 7 last. By the conspiracy, says Stock is client.

When arrested at his home, 3505 West Twenty-second street, Jirka declared that Stock is his client. The San Diego man, he maintained, is representative of American interests selling horses to the British and French governments. Stock, according to Jirka, owes him the $1,000 and $5,000 for services rendered each advanced in connection with the drawing of contracts for the sales.

"I received a letter from Stock last week," Jirka said. "It was dated at San Diego, the 10th, and he said he was trying to raise funds to meet his obligations to the British government. I never heard of the man Weinberger."

CHURCHMEN FOR FRATERNAL PLAN

Bishop Lloyd's Action at Panama Conference Indorsed in Re-election.

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON. St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—The question which, next to that of the marriage of divorced persons, has stirred the general convention of the Protestant Episcopal church—namely, the policy of the church towards other denominations—was settled this morning in favor of the policy of fraternity.

The vote came in the approval of the resolution of Bishop Arthur S. Lloyd as president of the board of missions. This carried with it sanction of the policy of sending representatives to the Panama conference and of extending missionary work in countries where the Roman Catholic church is dominant.

The vote follows: Clerical—For approval, 44%; against, 21%; divided, 6. Lay—For, 46%; against, 13%; divided, 4. The Chicago deputies voted unanimously against the approval of Bishop Lloyd's election, as did the Milwaukee deputies.

Women Again Lose Out. The attempt to secure the rights of women to equal representation in the Protestant Episcopal church was abandoned for this convention by the move of the resolutions, Robert H. Gardner of Maine.

"Inasmuch as an affirmative vote, if given in the house of deputies would, on account of an adverse vote in the house of bishops, result in a deadlock," he said, "I move to have the resolution tabled."

Mr. Gardner said later that the introduction of the resolutions favoring the rights of women had brought the subject for the first time officially before the church, and he was sure sentiment in its favor would win eventually.

Deputies Rule Unchanged. A discussion which lasted through three sessions on the subject of giving the larger dioceses a greater number of deputies resulted in an overwhelming defeat of the proposal to change the law of equal representation to all dioceses.

The report on the army and navy chaplains asking that the rank and pay of chaplains share in the advance of other officers brought out a sharp criticism on the army and incidentally on the committee by the Rev. Dr. W. J. Loring Clark of Chattanooga, Tenn., an army chaplain.

COUNCIL SPURNS WOMEN'S APPEAL ON BOND ISSUE

By Vote of 21 to 43 Aldermen Refuse to Consider Repealing Ordinance.

The city council yesterday decisively repudiated the appeal of the women's clubs and civic organizations to withdraw the proposed $2,500,000 bathing beach and recreation center bond issue from the ballot.

By a vote of 21 to 43 the council refused to consider repealing the ordinance providing for the bond issue. As a result, the original program to submit the question to the voters on Nov. 7 will not be altered.

The west side aldermen, practically all of whom voted against repeal, saved the day for the bond issue, although they were joined by administration aldermen.

The Final Argument. The fact that $1,200,000 of the proceeds of the bonds is to be spent on the west side for swimming pools and recreation purposes was stressed over and over again in arguments that ally ended with an appeal for "the great west side."

The debate often reached acrimonious heights and the good faith of the women's clubs, the finance committee, and the city administration was frequently impugned.

The attitude of the opponents of the bond issue was summed up by Ald. Merriam in the statement that "the city council cannot guarantee the honest expenditure of this money." He explained that in all probability the city administration would control these funds whether the proposed park consolidation bill is adopted "at the polls or not."

Politics! The city administration, he said, already has moved to deprive the special parks committee of its former power, while the passage of the park consolidation bill empowering the mayor to appoint a board of nine to supervise the city's parks would only serve to strengthen the administration's control.

Ald. Uptal declared the action of the finance committee in voting to kill the bond issue was "a rat hole policy." He said that the women, anyway, who are supposed to be against the bond issue? One of them said it would interfere with the lake front plan—the agreement with the Illinois Central, and I guess that explains most of the opposition.

As far as I can see it's only the north and south side aldermen who are opposing these bonds. You west side aldermen don't dare vote to repeal them."

How They Voted. The proposal to repeal the bond issue ordinance was brought up by Ald. Richert for the finance committee. He asked the suspension of the rules for its consideration, and his motion was carried by the following roll call:

HIS WIFE ILL

That Was the Reason Given by Kensington Policeman for Suicide Attempt.

Despondent because of his wife's illness, Policeman Gelouse Doucet, 5172 South Robey street, attached to the Kensington station, shot himself, per- walking in a park in East Ninety-fifth street, near Calumet avenue, Sunday night.

In the policeman's pocket was found a notebook with the note: "My Dear Sweetheart: I cannot stand it any longer. I thought it best to end it all. You do not know how it hurts me to see you sick, because I know I am the cause of it all. Good-by, sweetheart, take good care of our darling boy."

First it was suspected by the police that Doucet had been waylaid by robbers. His pistol was found fully loaded. But a further inspection revealed that he had exploded a cartridge.

He was conscious for a time, though not able to speak. He was taken to a hospital and then lost consciousness. It is said he will die.

oh schools, fire, police, and civil service, to establish a sort of double platoon system in the fire department was left up in the air after nearly two hours' wrangling. The ordinance, if adopted, would provide that firemen could only be required to work twenty-four hours out of forty-eight, instead of forty-eight out of seventy-two, as at present.

Ald. Kerner succeeded in having the truck tender ordinance amended so as to require the chief of police to issue certificates for approved tenders by Nov. 1.

FAVORS PAYING SCHOOL MONEY TO ROBERTSON

Board Finance Committee Approves $1,500 Appropriation for Supplies.

Dr. John Dill Robertson's effort to get $15,000 of the school board's money for taking throat cultures of school children met bitter opposition from the board's finance committee yesterday. After an hour's argument, however, the committee, by a vote of 5 to 3, decided to give the health department $2,500 as the first installment on the $15,000. A bill for that amount for supplies used in taking the cultures was submitted by Dr. Robertson. No action was taken regarding the actual appropriation of the full amount necessary for the work.

Clemensen Leads Opposition. Dr. Peter C. Clemensen led the attempt to stop the payment of the money. "If an emergency exists," he said, "it is up to the health department to ask the council for the money. We have nothing to say regarding the health department's I don't see why we should put up the money for its work. If we take $15,000 out of the contingent fund it will leave only $5,000 for the rest of the year."

Chicago sought to take care of its own health department or else we should take it over," said Mrs. John MacMahon. "This appropriation was planned when we were alarmed over the infantile paralysis situation. I do not think we can legally expend the money for this purpose unless an emergency exists."

Points to Deficit. "The trouble is," said Dr. Clemensen, "that the health department has used up its appropriation from the city for other purposes and wants us to stand this expense. There is no epidemic of diphtheria. How can we defend ourselves for this action when we have a deficit of $800,000? I am not against Dr. Robertson or his department and I don't care if he has a million dollars. But I do object to taking the money out of the educational fund, which is 'busted.'"

The appropriation will have to be approved by eleven trustees at a meeting of the board. The committee voted to pay to Charles D. Lowry, who has been acting superintendent of schools, the difference between his regular salary of $3,000 and that of the superintendent, $10,000, during his brief term as chief. The difference will amount to $700. Mr. Piggett and Mrs. Florence Vosbrink objected to the payment. It is said the request originated with Supt. John D. Hoop.

U. S. OFFICIALLY RECORDED AS 'AT WAR WITH MEXICO'

Washington, D. C., Oct. 22.—[Special.]—Secretary of War Baker, although seriously objecting to the publication of Brig. Gen. Snook H. Crowder's opinion that the United States is in a state of war with Mexico, has officially indorsed it and placed it on record as "a decision of the war department."

This was learned here today together with the fact that a quiet investigation may be begun by the administration to ascertain who was responsible for disclosing the opinion of Gen. Crowder to the public after the secretary's office had decided that for the present it was to be suppressed.

The publication has admittedly embarrassed both President Wilson and Secretary Baker. Mr. Baker has used the campaign slogan "He kept us out of war" as a doctrine in his speeches and other cabinet members have done the same or planned to do so.

VILLA AMBUSH TRAPS HIS FOE

Catches Carrancistas in a Rocky Defile on Railway, Report Says.

El Paso, Tex., Oct. 22.—Francisco Villa led the Carranza vanguard under Gen. Carlos Osuma into an ambush between Santa Isabel and San Andres, on the western division of the Mexico Northern railroad, Friday, a report received by one of the federal department agents here today stated.

According to this report, which was obtained by secret service agents for the federal department, Villa retreated Chihuahua City, toward San Andres, forty miles on the railroad west of Chihuahua City toward San Andres. This led the Carranza vanguard into the trap which Villa is said to have set for them, the government report stated.

The Carranza vanguard, who were hidden in the rocky defile along the railroad, poured a heavy fire into the Carranza troops from behind rocks, according to the report.

CARRANZA QUITS CAPITAL?

Laredo, Tex., Oct. 22.—Gen. Carranza, accompanied by Alvaro Obregon, minister of war, and a retinue of administration officials, are at Queretaro, where over six car loads of munitions were taken from Mexico City, according to information received from sources here today.

This information also is to the effect that Gen. Pablo Gonzales, who has been operating in the state of Morelos, has returned to Mexico City, and will remain there in charge of the city.

No reason is known here for these reported movements.

Fifty persons were killed and a great number injured in a rear end collision of a freight and passenger train at Rios Arriba, Mexico, on last Friday, according to reports reaching the border today. Ramos Arriba is between Saltillo and Torreon, Coahuila.

DR. SKODA FOUND GUILTY

Dr. Robert Skoda was found guilty of using the mails to defraud by a jury before Judge Wright in the United States District court yesterday. The jury was out thirty minutes.

Dr. Skoda, it is alleged, defrauded land owners through his proposed plan to colonize Polish, German, and Bohemian farmers. It is said that he received sums of money from various land owners in order to carry on an advertising campaign. The doctor, all through the trial denied any guilt in the matter and insisted that his plan was an honest one.

Sentence probably will be passed today.

DRIVE TO CORRAL GERMAN BEGUN BY DEMOCRATS

Leaders Deny Rumor They Have Abandoned Hope of Landing Teutonic Vote.

The drive by the Democratic national committee for the German vote has not been abandoned, according to statements yesterday at western headquarters. On the other hand, it was announced, both stump speakers and literature will be furnished for all localities where Germans are strong.

The report was current early in the day, after the committee had launched its attack on Jeremiah O'Leary and Mr. Hughes with the hyphens, that the Wilson forces had decided to cut loose entirely from the Germans and make a sensational anti-German campaign, with the hope that they could corral most of the other nationalities. This was denied.

The committee last night began preparations for flooding the country with "he kept us out of war" pictures, showing horrors of the European war, and at the same time gave prominence to work of Democrats among pro-German voters of St. Paul.

Appeal by a German.

"A stirring appeal," says an official statement, "to German citizens to cast their votes for Woodrow Wilson is made by Adolf Palmbacher of St. Paul, one of the best known Germans in the state, for many years editor of the Volkszeitung of St. Paul. His appeal for repudiation of Hughes and his Rooseveltian policies closes with this paragraph: 'When the truth is known, and I am willing to furnish the evidence, no true German-American can conscientiously support Charles Hughes and the Hughes-Velt combination, but there are more than a dozen reasons to induce the German-American voter to vote for Woodrow Wilson, who kept us out of war, and who was successful in upholding the friendly relations between the two greatest countries on the face of the earth—the United States and Germany.'"

Walsh Issues Statement.

Senator Walsh, director of the western Democratic headquarters, last night issued the following forecast: "The swing to Wilson is unmistakable and every day brings new evidence of its accumulating force. Manifesting itself first in the west, it is now felt at least as far east as New York. There is not a sure Hughes state west of the Allegheny mountains—not one, even Iowa, into which Republican speakers of national reputation are now being rushed."

"Ohio is referred to by candid observers whose sympathies are with the Republican candidate as probably lost to them. Illinois is conceded to be doubtful by the political writers. Kansas even has been hanging in the balance, and the announcement that Victor Murdock's paper is out for Wilson justifies the claim consistently made by our workers in that state that its electoral vote will be cast for the president."

HULL JUMPS INTO FIGHT FOR REPUBLICAN CANDIDATES

Morton D. Hull, who was defeated for the nomination for governor in the September primaries, enters the campaign tonight in behalf of all Republican tickets. His first speech will be at the Hyde Park Masonic temple, Fifty-first street and Michigan avenue. Congressman James R. Mann will also speak and all county candidates will appear.

Senator Hull's decision to take an active part in the campaign cements the factional breach in the primary, as Republican politicians view it. Col. Frank L. Smith resumed his place "in the ranks," as he expressed it at the Peoria state convention, and he and his friends have been working actively downstate for the entire ticket.

DENIES HUGHES FAVORS GERMANS

O'Leary Refutes Democrats' Reiterated Charges of Secret Agreement.

EXPLAINS CONFERENCE.

New York, Oct. 22.—The Democratic national committee tonight issued what it termed the "second installment" of charges that a secret agreement exists between Charles E. Hughes, Republican presidential nominee, and the American Independence conference, of which Jeremiah A. O'Leary is one of the heads.

Tonight's statement, the Democratic national committee announced, "is based upon the official records of the O'Leary organization," and attempts to show by excerpts from Mr. Hughes' speeches what is alleged to be a compliance with the "demands" said to have been made upon the Republican nominee by O'Leary and his associates.

The statement issued tonight by the Democratic national committee was read over the telephone to the secretary of Mr. Hughes at Montclair, N. J. Mr. Hughes declared he had nothing to say tonight concerning it.

Jeremiah A. O'Leary in a statement tonight said in part, in reference to the statement of Sunday: "Gov. Hughes has stated correctly what happened at our interview with him. In order to prevent any possibility of misunderstanding or misrepresentation, we had carefully reduced to writing what we wished to say to Mr. Hughes. Our statement speaks for itself. The man who attempts to find fault with any portion of it, particularly with the question we asked, whether or not Mr. Hughes would administer the presidency of the United States in accordance with the spirit of the fathers and the whole American people, is not a true American."

Mr. O'Leary said there was nothing secret about the conference and asked: "Why should there be?" He said the interview was given by request.

AUSTRIAN PREMIER'S DEATH WORK OF POLITICAL CRANK

Will Not Influence Nation's Future or Course of War, Responsible Authorities Aver.

VIENNA, Oct. 22, via London, Oct. 22.—Government circles here regard the killing of Premier Stuergh as an act of a political crank which can in no wise influence the political situation or the course of the war. This statement was made to the correspondent of the Associated Press in high responsible quarters.

It is pointed out that the time which has elapsed since the murder has shown that Adler, the assassin, stands alone. His act is disavowed by the Socialist party and press and condemned by his father, Victor Adler, Socialist member of the lower chamber of the reichsrath.

Adler stated to the police that he shot Stuergh because the premier opposed the convening of parliament. It is stated officially that Stuergh had at no time done this and that he could not do so because the convening of parliament was a matter in the hands of the political parties.

G. O. P. RAPID FIRE CHICAGO BATTLE TO START TODAY

100 Meetings Daily in Every Section of City Until Campaign Ends, Is Plan.

One hundred meetings daily is the fast schedule that went into operation yesterday by direction of the Republican county committee. Fifty automobiles will be used, beginning this morning.

"We are now at the edge of the swift and most comprehensive campaign ever made by a Republican organization in Cook county," Chairman Galpin said. "The downstate trip of Lowden's special train terminates tomorrow night. Beginning on Thursday, the speaking force that has been with the train will be thrown into Chicago."

The meetings are to begin at the breakfast hour to men can be caught as they are going to shops and offices. Others are to be held at suburban stations as commuters are waiting for city-bound trains. At noon, factory districts will be flooded with orators, and in downtown theaters there will be a continuous series of meetings. Outlying theaters will also be used whenever possible.

Democrats to Invade G. O. P. Ward.

"Democratic managers will 'test the sentiment,' as they termed it last night, in strongly fortified Republican strongholds of Chicago tonight, with meetings in the Twenty-fifth, Seventh, and Third wards."

In the Twenty-fifth ward, where 47,000 have registered, they will hold their big meeting in Arcadia hall, Wilson avenue and Broadway. Former Gov. Martin Glynn of New York will be the principal speaker.

Notices have been sent out to all Democratic ward organizations on the north side to send big delegations to the meeting.

The Seventh ward meeting will be held in Woodlawn Masonic hall, Sixty-fourth street and University avenue, where Senator Thomas J. Walsh will be the headline. The third ward demonstration will be in Forum hall, Forty-third street and Calumet avenue, where Roger C. Sullivan will be the chief orator.

Consident for All.

An official statement from Democratic county headquarters last night expresses confidence President Wilson would make gains during the last two weeks of the campaign, and continues:

"Democratic managers are also satisfied the entire Democratic county ticket will sweep the county. They declare the so-called straw votes which are being reported on the state's attorney point to State's Attorney Hoyne obtaining one of the largest pluralities of any of the candidates on the Democratic ticket."

DYSON TAKES UP DUNNE DEFENSE

Replies to Lowden's Charge He Made a Mess of Foot and Mouth Epidemic.

CITES DATES AS PROOF.

Dr. O. E. Dyson, state veterinarian, appointed by Gov. Dunne, last night came to the defense of the governor in the controversy over the handling of the foot and mouth epidemic in Illinois.

Col. Lowden, Republican candidate for governor, has charged in his speeches that the state administration made a mess of the job, and as a result many herds were sacrificed that might have been saved.

"Had Col. Lowden," said Dr. Dyson, "quoted all telegrams passing between Dr. A. D. Melvin, chief of the bureau of animal industry, and myself he could by no stretch of the imagination charge negligence on the part of any one connected with the Dunne administration."

Gives Dates on Disease.

"Unfortunately for the state of Illinois and twenty-one [21] other states, foot and mouth disease was prevalent in Michigan in a mild form for at least sixty days prior to the fact that foot and mouth disease was known to exist in the United States."

"It is a matter of public record that the Union Stock yards, Chicago, became infected through a shipment of cattle from the infected area in Michigan at least one week prior to Oct. 16, 1918. It is also a matter of public record that no shipments of livestock from infected areas in Indiana and Michigan were made subsequent to Oct. 16, 1918."

"Consequently on account of the fact that the infected shipment to the Union Stock yards was made prior to Oct. 16, there was no possible way whereby the infection might have been avoided as evidenced by the fact that fifty-two counties in Illinois had become infected with the contagion at least one week prior to the time the disease was known to exist in the United States."

Cites Federal Steps.

"When there is full cooperation between state livestock sanitary officials and the bureau of animal industry such as prevailed in Illinois, proclamations to prevent interstate shipments of livestock from infected areas serve no practical purpose."

"It is also a matter of record that foot and mouth disease in Illinois was not permitted to spread beyond the fifty-two counties originally infected. Had negligence and incompetency prevailed in Illinois, it is not reasonable to suppose that the most highly contagious disease known would have been permitted to spread beyond the fifty-two counties originally infected?"

KAISER DECIDES ON POLICIES

BERLIN, Oct. 22, via London, Oct. 22, 1:30 a. m.—The emperor, who is paying a brief visit to Berlin, conferred this morning with the imperial chancellor, Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, and will continue the discussions on the general situation, concerning which the chancellor and the foreign secretary, Herr von Jagow, last week visited the great headquarters. It is understood that there has been no change in the situation with respect to the United States.

L. BRACKETT BISHOP HURT BY FALL ON BOARD SHIP.

Chicago Insurance Man Sends Wireless He Is in Panama Hospital, Following Shuffleboard Accident.

L. Brackett Bishop, Chicago manager of the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance company, is on his way to a hospital at Panama, painfully injured as a result of a fall while playing shuffleboard on the steamship Carillo.

Richard M. Gray, manager of the Chicago Beach Hotel, where Mr. Bishop lives, was notified of the accident last night in a wireless message from Mr. Bishop. The Chicagoan said his pelvic bone had been broken, but that he did not consider the injury serious.

Mrs. Bishop, prominent in Chicago as a suffragist and clubwoman, is at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York. Efforts to reach her with word of the accident to her husband were met with the report that she had retired, was not feeling well, and did not want to be disturbed.

GERMANS TAKE MAIN SEAPORT OF ROUMANIA

Capture Constanza After Terrific Twelve Mile Drive—
Rout Dobrudja Foe.

BULLETIN.

LONDON, Oct. 24, 3 a. m.—The feeling in Bucharest is serious, says a Daily News dispatch from Petrograd. "The king, a good soldier, and the queen, as an Englishwoman, preserve their equanimity. The attempt to form a coalition government by the inclusion of members of the opposition has failed."

BERLIN, Oct. 23.—Constanza, Roumania's greatest seaport, has fallen before Field Marshal von Mackensen's armies, it was officially announced this afternoon. Capture of the city is the greatest single achievement for the central powers since Roumania entered the war eight weeks ago. The victory is hailed by German military men as of more importance than all the gains made by the allies since the Somme offensive began. Roumanian Army Routed. Official dispatches from the German and Bulgarian war office indicate that the Russo-Roumanians have suffered a disastrous rout. Smashing northward along the Black Sea coast, von Mackensen's army occupied first the Roumanian port of Tulcea and then swept onward through strongly fortified Roumanian lines of defense, marching twelve miles to Constanza in a little more than two days. The rapidity of the Roumanian advance is accepted as an indication that the Roumanians and Roumanians became demoralized and made an extremely disordered retreat.

German War Report. The German official report covering operations in the Balkans reads: Dobrudja.—Notwithstanding torrential rain and sodden ground, the allied (Teutonic) troops by untiring and quick pursuit and by breaking down isolated resistance, have crossed far beyond the railway line to the east of Murfal. Constanza has been taken by German and Bulgarian troops. On the left wing we are approaching Tchernavoda. Macedonia.—In the Cerna salient the enemy has been forced to assume the defensive as a result of an attack by German and Bulgarian troops. East of the Vardar a night attack against German positions failed.

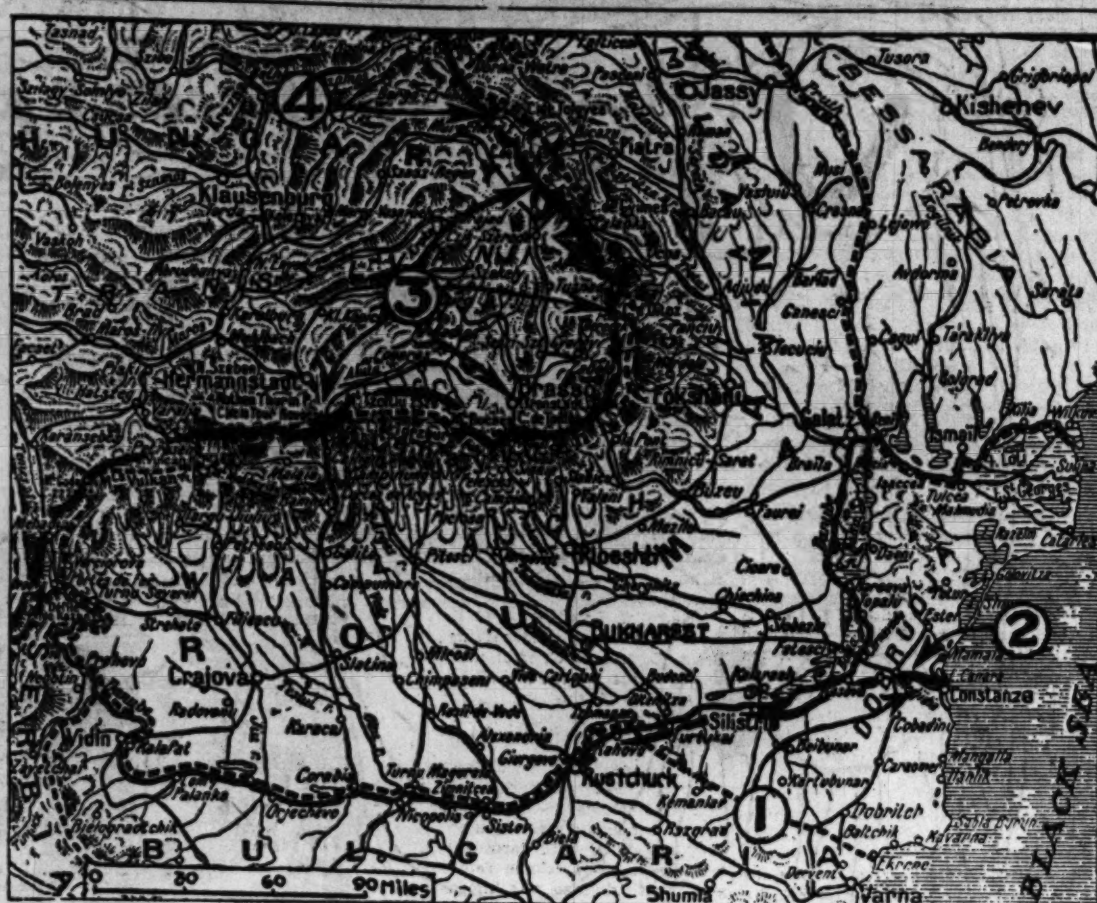

Roumanian War Report. BUCHAREST, Oct. 23.—The war office announced today that the Roumanian forces in Dobrudja had made a further retirement before the army of Field Marshal von Mackensen. The statement reads:

Northern and northwestern front.—There were violent artillery actions at Tulcea and Biala. In the Trosna valley the enemy is retiring. He has set fire to the village of Brostova (five miles inside the Roumanian frontier line).

In the Uzul valley all the attacks of the enemy, who attempted to dislodge from the Uzul into the Otus and Sianic valleys, were repelled. Repel Teutonic Attacks. In the Buzia valley at Table Buta, Trosna, and Predelus there were artillery bombardments. At Predelus a violent enemy attack was repelled. In the region of Dragoslavele we have recaptured Mount Prescal. On our left there were numerous attacks and counter attacks. We repelled our position.

We repulsed an enemy detachment which advanced from Scara through the valley of Topolovo. In the region of Orsovo we have

HOW CENTRAL POWERS THREATEN ROUMANIA

In the capture of Constanza Gen. von Mackensen has cut off direct water and rail connections between Russia and Roumania. Possession of the railway from the coast to Tchernavoda on the Danube will make it difficult to send in Russian reinforcements, ammunition, and other supplies. They will have to come overland. Only the wide channel of the Danube now lies between the invaders and the heart of Roumania. The loss of the Dobrudja country and its chief seaport may force the retirement of the Roumanian armies to the west as the pressure of Von Falkenhayn along the Transylvanian frontier is being kept up relentlessly. A smash across the Danube on the south and east or through the Transylvanian Alps from the west and north would isolate a large portion of Roumania from connection with the Russians through Bessarabia and Moldavia. Von Mackensen's army advances in Dobrudja, capturing Roumania's greatest seaport of Constanza.

2.—Berlin reports Germans and Bulgarians have crossed beyond the Constanza-Tchernavoda railway line east of Murfal. On the left wing they are approaching Tchernavoda. 3.—Bucharest reports Roumanians have thrown back Austro-German attacks along frontier passes. 4.—Petrograd reports Austro-Germans have failed to drive wedges between Russian and Roumanian lines in region south of Dorna Watra. Heavy Russian concentrations drove enemy back to original positions.

repelled an enemy attack directed against the village of Bera. In Dobrudja fighting continues with violence. Our troops retired immediately to the south of Tchernavoda (Constanza railway).

Russian War Report. PETROGRAD, Oct. 23.—The Russian and Roumanian troops in Dobrudja are continuing to retreat, the war office announced today. They are offering stubborn resistance to Field Marshal von Mackensen's army. The announcement follows:

On the northeastern Roumanian front in the Trosna, Otus, and Sianic valleys the enemy, attacked by Roumanians, was compelled to make a slight retirement. On the western frontier of Moldavia (northern Roumania) stubborn battles continue with success for the Roumanians.

In Dobrudja under the continuing pressure of the enemy our troops and the Roumanians are retreating, offering stubborn resistance.

French War Report. PARIS, Oct. 23.—Desperate fighting in the bend of the Cerna on the Macedonian front has resulted favorably to the entente forces, according to today's war office announcement, which follows:

From the Struma to the Vardar there were no events of importance. Patrol engagements occurred in the region of Prosenik. In the bend of the Cerna the Bulgarians on Oct. 19 delivered several violent counter attacks with large bodies of troops against Serbian positions. Obstinately fighting which lasted all day ended in complete success for our allies, who everywhere repulsed the enemy.

British War Report. LONDON, Oct. 23.—The following official report from the Macedonian front was given out here today:

On the Struma front rain is still impeding operations. A French patrol, acting in conjunction with our forces, raided Bulgarian trenches near Bejlikmah.

ALLIED AIRMEN LOSE 22 FIGHTS

Capt. Boelke Brings Down His Thirty-eighth Enemy Craft.

BERLIN, Oct. 23.—Twenty-two allied aeroplanes were shot down on the western front yesterday. Capt. Boelke shot down two more, bringing his total to thirty-eight. The official announcement follows:

In the neighborhood of the coast, in the Somme, and in the Meuse regions there was great aerial activity. Twenty-two aeroplanes were shot down by aerial attacks and anti-aircraft fire. Eleven aeroplanes are lying behind our lines. Capt. Boelke conquered his thirty-seventh and thirty-eighth foes and Lieut. Frank his fourteenth enemy.

Enemy aviators dropped bombs on Metz and on villages in Lorraine. No military damage was caused. Five civilians died and seven were made ill through inhaling poisonous gases emitted from bombs. The admiralty made the following announcement today:

Hostile aeroplanes on the morning of Oct. 22 attacked without success our eastern Frisian Islands (in the North sea). No damage was caused.

Attack German Bases. PARIS, Oct. 23.—Four tons of projectiles have been dropped by a French air squadron of twenty-four machines on blast furnaces north of Metz and on the Metz and Thionville stations, the war office announced today. Another French flotilla bombarded factories at Rombach. The announcement follows: Yesterday twenty-four of our machines dropped four tons of bombs on blast furnaces at Hagondange and Pussignies north of Metz, and also on the railway stations at Thionville, Meures-Les-Metz, Longwy, and Metz-Sablon. They attained their objective.

Another of our aerial squadrons bombarded the ammunition depot at Monsen road (Somme). This morning German aeroplanes dropped several bombs on Lensueville. There were no victims and the material damage was insignificant.

On the Somme front yesterday two German aeroplanes were brought down and three others were forced down in a damaged condition. Good results were achieved by a bombing expedition against factories of Rombach and the railway station at March-la-Tour.

Raid Town of Margate. LONDON, Oct. 23.—A hostile aeroplane appeared today over Margate, on the southeastern coast of England, and dropped three bombs. Two persons were injured.

BRITISH CAPTURE FOES' TRENCHES ON WIDE FRONT

Official Report Tells of Gains Near Gueudecourt and Lesboeufs, North of Somme.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—More than a thousand yards of German trenches in the region of Gueudecourt and Lesboeufs were taken by the British in fighting north of the Somme river in France this afternoon, according to the official communication issued tonight. The statement says:

This afternoon we advanced our line east of Gueudecourt and Lesboeufs and captured over a thousand yards of enemy trenches. Two German raids were attempted against our trenches in the neighborhood of Gommecourt. One was stopped by our fire and the enemy suffered heavy casualties. The second penetrated our outpost lines, but was driven back by our counter attack.

French Also Make Gain.

PARIS, Oct. 23.—French troops in the Somme region have fought their way forward in the neighborhood of Sallies-Saillies, the war office announced today. They also made gains northeast of Morval.

An isolated operation today enabled us to progress appreciably northeast of Morval. After brief artillery preparation our troops carried in a superb rush the whole of a ridge No. 128, west of Sallies-Saillies, on which we gained a footing Oct. 18. Further south an enemy coup de main against one of our trenches failed. The total number of prisoners taken by us since Saturday in the Chaulnes sector is now 450, including sixteen officers.

Germans Admit Retreat.

BERLIN, Oct. 23.—[Via London.] Yesterday afternoon the Germans penetrated the wood north of Chaulnes. During the night the line of defense was withdrawn to a prepared position east of the northern portion of the wood. The announcement follows:

To the south of the Somme we succeeded during the afternoon in advancing into the northern part of Ambrol wood, north of Chaulnes. During the night our line of defense at this place was withdrawn, in accordance with instructions, to a prepared position east of the northern portion of the wood without any action on the part of the enemy.

DEMOCRATS PUT UP DEFENSE FOR BAKER'S SPEECH

National Committee Announces Women Back Talk Assailing Washington's Army.

The Democratic national committee yesterday came to the defense of Secretary of War Newton D. Baker in the controversy over his Jersey City speech, in which he was quoted as having placed the Mexican revolutionists on as high a moral plane as Washington's colonial troops.

The committee, while not issuing a formal statement from Secretary Baker, sent out interviews with several women who are quoted as having upheld Mr. Baker's remarks.

The committee prefaced the interviews with the following "explanation," as expressing the views of the national committee:

"Secretary Baker's statement has been twisted inside out by Republican speakers. The truth is he compared the Mexican revolutionists with our own in order to honor both. His appeal was for a square deal for the Mexicans who are seeking to follow America's example in revolution from tyranny."

Mrs. Matthew Scott Quoted.
One of the women whose interview was given out by the national committee is Mrs. Matthew T. Scott, honorary president of the Daughters of the American Revolution and aunt of Lewis G. Stevenson, secretary of state in Illinois. "A travesty and a libel on that patriotism, pure and undiluted, for which the Daughters of the American Revolution stand," Mrs. Scott is quoted as having said in defense of Secretary Baker. She is said to have branded criticisms of the speech as an "attempt, under the hypocritical guise of patriotism, to distort and misrepresent the words of a cabinet officer."

G. A. R. TO JOIN FIGHT.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 23.—[Special.]—The Grand Army of the Republic probably will take up the demand made yesterday by eleven national patriotic societies of women with headquarters in Washington that Secretary of War Baker resign as a result of his recent utterances regarding the Revolutionary soldiers in which he compared them with Mexican bandits.

Col. John McIlroy of Washington, one of the best known Grand Army officials and publisher of the official organ of the organization, today said that there is not the slightest doubt that the Grand Army will take up Secretary Baker's insult to American soldiers. "Some posts have already taken it up," he said. "We have received letters and resolutions telling of action taken in Brooklyn and West Virginia, and we understand that similar action has been taken elsewhere. The president needs to set himself and the administration right in the eyes of the people and do it quickly."

Back Demand Baker Quit.

The Legion of Loyal Women, a local patriotic organization, met tonight and passed the action of its president in signing a resolution calling upon Secretary of War Baker to resign because of his alleged comparison of Mexican revolutionists to Washington's continental army in a recent speech.

Condemn Baker in Missouri.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 23.—[Special.]—The Missouri annual conference of the National Society of Daughters of 1812 tonight adopted a resolution condemning Secretary of War Baker for comparing the continental soldiers with the Mexican revolutionists.

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR YOUNG MEN

GET OUT OF THE RUT!
ENTER SELLING GAME!
FREE SCHOOLING
AND GOOD PAY

Many a young man with native selling ability is holding down some mediocre job. Many of the world's best salesmen have been developed from the bottom ranks.
Salesmanship is now acknowledged to be a science. Selling is teachable, and the development of salesmen is a business in itself.
This may be your opportunity to become a salesman; it is certainly a rare chance to learn salesmanship under the schooling of a man who is a past master of the art—an expert who has developed hundreds of stars. Many young men would gladly pay for such tutoring if they only knew it is available. But it is free.

We are organizing two new sales forces—a full time force and a part time force. The reason for this division is to give an opportunity to young men who prefer, for a while, to continue to hold down their regular daytime jobs and put in an hour or two of their evenings on our work under liberal commission arrangement.
Would you like to sell stock in the Dress Motor Car Corporation—the big Chicago company? Would you like to receive a personal training under Mr. Leachman, a sales manager of national reputation? Will you let him teach you how to make big money as he has taught hundreds of others?
You can't buy this training—it isn't for sale. Our only reason for making you this offer is to develop more good salesmen for our sales force.
Our classes start now in a few evenings. Begin with us at the beginning and get the benefit of the full course of teaching. Earn money as you go along.
The only credentials you will require are a clean, neat appearance and an honest face.

WHY HAIR FALLS OUT

Dandruff causes a feverish irritation of the scalp, the hair roots shrink, loosen, and then the hair comes out fast. To stop falling hair at once and rid the scalp of every particle of dandruff, get a 25-cent bottle of Dandrin at any drug store, pour a little in your hands and rub well into the scalp. After a few applications all dandruff disappears and the hair stops coming out.—Advertisement.

FIRST ON GROUND WILL GET SEATS AT T. R. MEETINGS

Roosevelt Day in Chicago Expected to Outrival Any Former Visit of Colonel.

Roosevelt day in Chicago is next Thursday. The colonel will be swirled through a program jammed with events. There is every indication that the reception that he is to get will out-rival any prior visit to Chicago, even at the height of his own presidential campaign.

All ticket restrictions for the Stockyards meeting next Thursday night were declared off yesterday and the first at the pavilion will get the seats. At the Auditorium in the afternoon, Col. Roosevelt is to talk to the women. The national headquarters at the Conway building yesterday became literally swamped with requests for tickets.

Inquirers were told that no tickets are necessary. The hour was placed at 4 o'clock to accommodate working women. The doors will be opened at 2:45 and will be closed when all seats are occupied. The stage will be filled with chairs. If necessary, an outdoor overflow meeting will be held, which the colonel will address. Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen is to introduce Col. Roosevelt. The Chicago band will play from 3 to 4 o'clock.

It is known the colonel desires particularly to speak of issues that involve laboring men and women, and probabilities are the greater part of his night speech will be devoted to these matters. Col. Roosevelt is due to arrive from the west about 2 o'clock p. m. and will go to the Congress hotel.

College League's Polls of East Show 92 Per Cent of Progressives with Him.

BUILDING TRADE VOTE.

New York and the eastern states are O. K. for Hughes, because the bulk of the Progressive vote of 1912 is going to the Republican nominee. This is the conclusion by the Hughes National College league issued as a bulletin from the Conway building headquarters yesterday.

Contained in the bulletin is a recapitulation of a poll made before the presidential nominations and of one made from the same people in October.

Finding of the League.

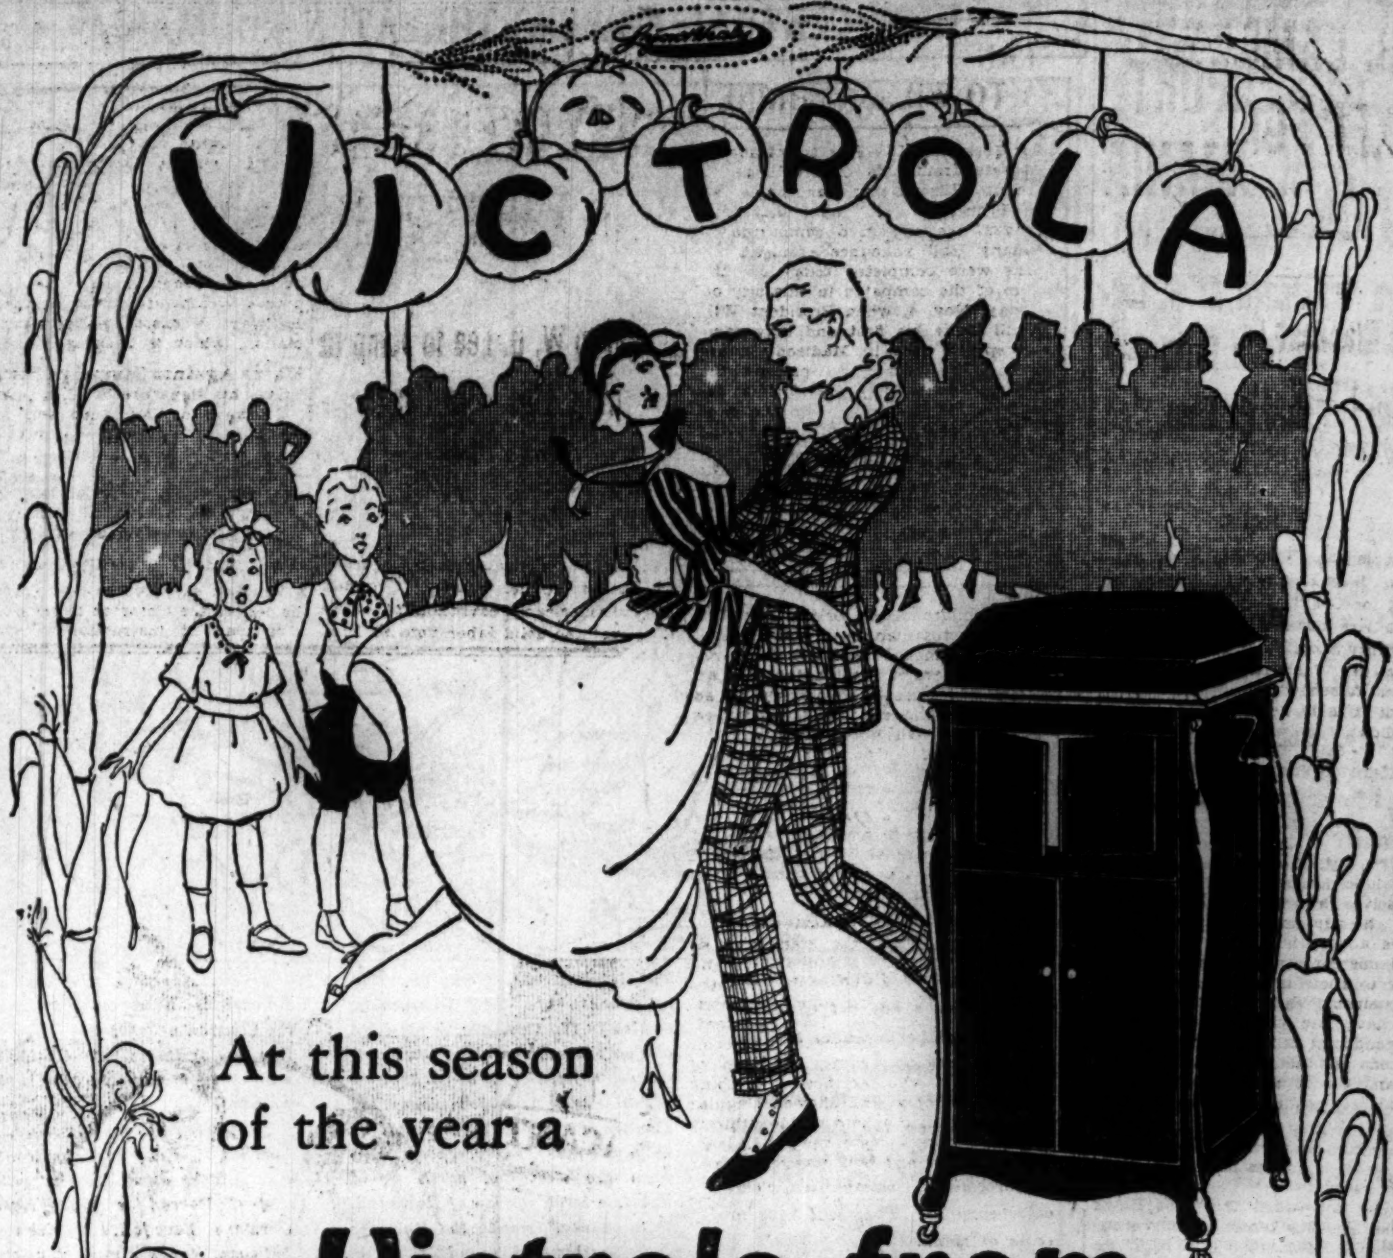

Part of the bulletin follows: "Ninety-two per cent of the Progressive vote in New England and New York is going to Hughes, according to the comparison of two straw votes taken before and after the nomination, in May and October of this year respectively, by A. S. Brown Jr., president of Brown's Letters, Inc. of Boston."

"The polls were taken in the building trade among general contractors, subcontractors, and building material concerns throughout New England and New York."

Comparison of Ballots.

"The first ballot set out before the nomination to over 1,000 concerns listed Wilson, Hughes, Roosevelt, and Root in the foregoing order; the second listed first Wilson and then Hughes. On May 29 the first poll stood: Roosevelt, 355; Hughes, 180; Wilson, 127; Root, 22; total, 694."

"On Oct. 20 the second poll stood: Hughes, 541; Wilson, 107; total, 708. In other words, all but 26 of the 355 Roosevelt votes, or more than 92 per cent, passed to Hughes on the second poll, and Wilson got these twenty-six and fourteen additional votes."

How Much Is 120,000,000 Cakes of Soap?

YOU don't know, do you? Well, neither do we—but we observe that, at 5c a cake, it represents the mere trifle of six million dollars.

It is perfectly evident that no one manufacturer, nor even Ivory or Armour, can get all the soap business of The Farm Journal's readers, but right now there is a chance for somebody to get most of that $6,000,000 for himself.

But forget soap for a moment—it's just one of the items used by The Farm Journal's families. Maybe you're a yeast manufacturer, a coffee merchant or at the head of a corn flakes factory.

Then hear this: The Farm Journal's women folks use every year something like 90,000,000 cakes of somebody's yeast, 45,000,000 pounds of somebody's coffee and 10,000,000 packages of somebody's corn flakes.

To say nothing about 450,000,000 pounds of sugar, 50,000,000 pairs of so-and-so's stockings, 7,500,000 tooth brushes, and so on.

They also eat, wear clothes, sit on chairs and live in houses—indeed, they buy all the comforts and luxuries that the poorer city man and his family can't afford, and then have money left over to put by.

The net of it is that The Farm Journal's circulation of one million is the greatest single buying field of its kind in the world!

There's country trade for YOU—millions of dollars' worth of it—if you have a "repeat" article and back it up with consistent advertising.

T. R. LAMBASTES BAKER FOR STAIN PUT ON U. S. ARMY

"The Blackest Falsehood Ever
Pinned"—"Exquisitely Untrue" for Secretary of War.

Albuquerque, N. M., Oct. 23.—Secretary of War Baker was the particular target for Col. Roosevelt's darts in his speech here today.

He called Secretary Baker's characterization of Washington's army "the blackest falsehood ever pinned."
"But it is to be expected of a man who didn't play with tin soldiers when a boy," he said. "I might add here that Mr. Baker's Cleveland friends have tried me that he used to knit when young."

Quote Erroneous "Facts."

"When men occupy an improper and unpatriotic position and seek to justify themselves by precedents from the past," he said in opening his address, "it is almost impossible for them to avoid misrepresenting the facts they desire to quote in their favor."

"President Wilson's positions and actions have been entirely justifiable from the standpoint of those who justify the positions and actions of President Buchanan. But it is utterly impossible to defend the conduct of President Wilson save by infamously condemning the conduct of such presidents as Washington, Jackson, and Lincoln."

"If President Wilson's behavior toward Germany and especially toward Mexico, if his attitude in both our international and internal affairs are proper, then Washington, Jackson, and Lincoln acted improperly in upholding and saving the union and defending our position against foreign nations by their readiness and ability to use force."

Action Wholly Indefensible.

"If their attitude toward the army and navy was right then the attitude of Mr. Wilson in appointing and maintaining Mr. Daniels as secretary of the navy and Mr. Baker as secretary of war is wholly indefensible."

"Mr. Baker is an amiable pacifist who, I do not doubt, could give respectable service along other lines, but he is exquisitely unfit for his present position and would never have been appointed to it if Mr. Wilson had been willing to look at the army from the standpoint of military efficiency, instead of creating it purely from the standpoint of temporary protective expediency."

"Mr. Baker has been engaged recently on several occasions in the defense of Mr. Wilson. His effort is to defend Mr. Wilson's attitude toward Carranza and the Mexican bandits generally, by saying that Washington and his soldiers stood, or substantially the same level. He is by no means as astute as Mr. Wilson, but he is more sincere and straightforward."

"When he was appointed to the position of secretary of war, the newspapers reported him as saying that he 'knew nothing about the army,' that he was a pacifist, and that even when a boy his principles had been such that he never played with tin soldiers."

"Appeals to Wilson Ignorance."
"These artless attributes, and especially Mr. Baker's admitted and complete ignorance of the job, appealed strongly to Mr. Wilson's own ignorance of all militia matters, and the amiable but wholly unmilitary character which this civic-duty portrayed is precisely that which Mr. Baker has shown in his office."

"He certainly understands nothing of efficiency in war, and it is now apparent that he regards all wars as standing on the same level of infamy and all soldiers as equally despicable. Among his most appalling was an elaborate comparison of Washington and his followers and soldiers in the revolutionary war with Carranza and the other bandits who are responsible for the present chaos in Mexico."

"Mr. Baker's speech at Jersey City on Oct. 19 presented a wholly novel view of the founders of this republic."

"Comparing men who rape women,

PLAN PILGRIMAGE TO WILSON SHRINE

New York, Oct. 23.—Five trainloads of Democrats from this city will go to President Wilson's summer home at Long Branch, N. J., next Saturday afternoon, the executive committee of Tammany Hall announced tonight.
Plans were completed today for the windup of the campaign in this city on Saturday, Nov. 4, when President Wilson will make his first and only campaign speech here in Madison Square garden. The parade to precede the meeting, Tammany Hall officials declared tonight, will be one of the most impressive political demonstrations the city has ever witnessed.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, announced here tonight that he would tomorrow take the stump for President Wilson.

murder children and torture wounded soldiers, to the signers of the declaration of independence and the singularly humane soldiers of Washington adds an element of nauseous hypocrisy to as preposterous and ridiculous slander as ever was circulated about the men of the revolution," Mr. Roosevelt continued.

"I have no doubt whatever that in this astounding statement Mr. Baker gives Mr. Wilson's real views, exactly as Mr. Lansing, in his famous note of June last, incautiously told the exact truth about the acts of Carranza and the Mexican bandits generally."

"Profoundly Unpatriotic."
"Of course, from the standpoint of patriotism, from the standpoint of any American citizen proud of his country and his army, it is profoundly unpatriotic, profoundly dishonorable—it indeed amounts almost to desecration to compare Washington's army, the men of Valley Forge, who sacrificed everything for their country and showed singular humanity with the herd of bloodthirsty bandits who, now under one bandit leader, now under another, ravaged Mexico and whom the president has been backing and supporting in their murders and outrages for the last three and a half years in Mexico."

"The man who professed such doctrines is wholly unfit to stay in the cabinet and the president who retains him is wholly unfit to remain president of the United States."

Calls Baker Foul Slanderer.
"This statement of Mr. Baker's, acquiesced in by the editor of Mr. Wilson, shows that Mr. Wilson, in his heart, believes that Washington was no better than Villa or Carranza; that the men of the revolution stood on a level with the miscreant crew, who during the last three and a half years in Mexico have murdered Americans by the hundreds and Mexicans by the tens of thousands."

"These men have perpetrated every species of outrage upon women and children, and have turned all Mexico into a hell of starvation, disease and misery."

"They have done this with active or passive assistance of the American government under lead of Mr. Wilson and Mr. Wilson's cabinet officer now defends them by the foulest slander on the men who made us a nation."

Mr. Roosevelt after his speech at East Las Vegas tonight left for Colorado.

DEMOCRATS GET BUSY OVER SPLIT IN LABOR VOTE

Appeal to W. G. Lee to Jump to Firing Line—He Sends
Out a Plea.

The split in the labor forces over the attempt of Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, to deliver the solid labor vote to President Wilson was taken up by the Democratic national committee yesterday. In a counter move against labor independents the national committee has called on President W. G. Lee of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, one of the union chiefs who stood with Gompers in the recent drive on congress, to get on to the firing line.

Mr. Lee, who already had issued a circular calling on the trainmen to support Wilson and vote against Hughes, was called on again for an appeal to labor forces. He responded with a lengthy statement, attacking the Railway Workers' Nonpartisan association, which is backing Mr. Hughes.

Warns Against Campaign Statement
Over his signature Mr. Lee says: "Beware of literature sent out by direction of campaign committees and disgruntled members assuming to deal with affairs over which your committee and officers are given jurisdiction according to the laws of your organization and your expressed vote and wish."

Recalls First Statement.
Mr. Lee says in his last appeal that he desires the trainmen to remember the "circular of instructions" which he sent out in October and forwarded to all lodges, in which he appealed against Mr. Hughes.

It was Mr. Lee's October statement, which had the approval of Mr. Gompers, that called forth the first split in labor forces on the part of the Carpenters and Joiners of America, who insisted that Mr. Hughes' record as governor of New York entitles him to a "fair" statement than Lee and Gompers have made.

Labor Chief Dissents.
Fort Wayne, Ind., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Congressman M. M. Garland of Pittsburgh addressed an audience of 300 railroad men at Garrett, division point on the B. and O. tonight and by reason of his office of vice president of the American Federation of Labor was given an attentive hearing. Mr. Gompers, he said, referring to the announcement that the president of the American Federation of Labor and other executives had declared for Wilson, is a Democrat, and so are the other officials of the federation who signed the announcement.

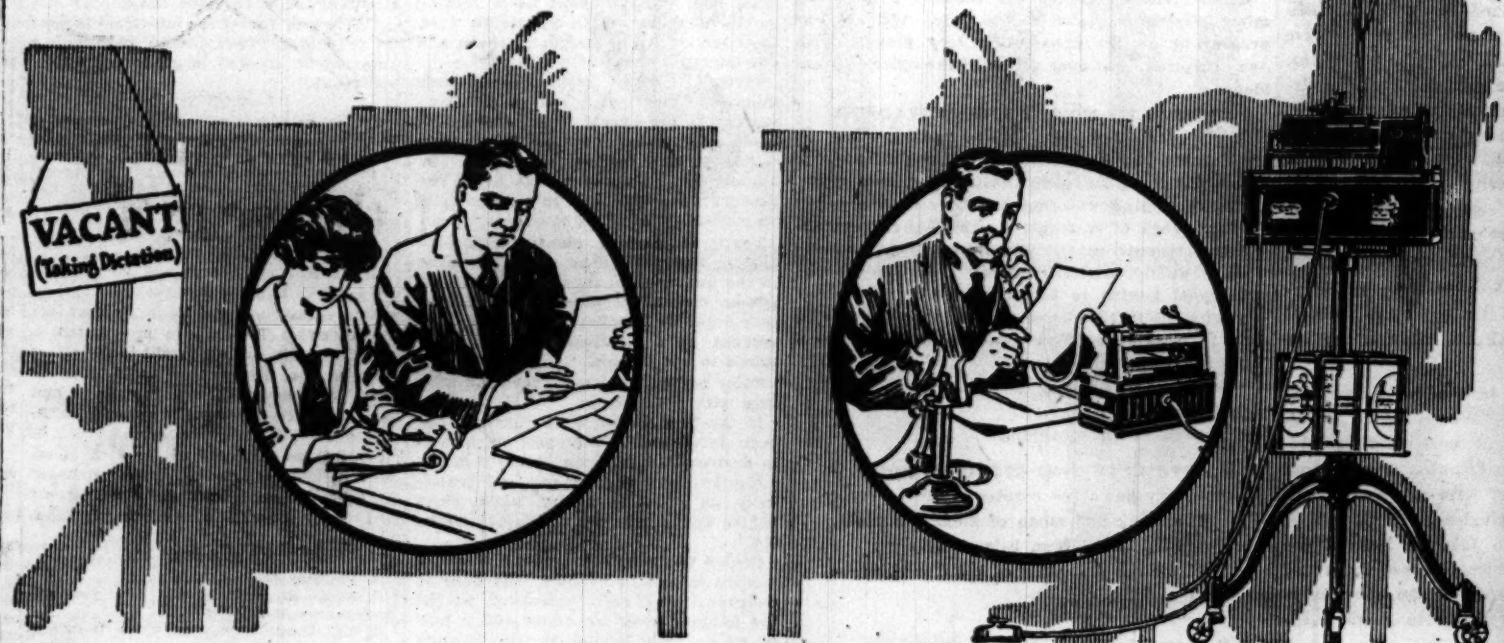

"They have a right, he said, to support the president for reelection if they desire, but membership in the unions and brotherhoods never means that the members will on questions affecting public measures and public men permit any official to be a dictator.

Position of Illinois Board.
Springfield, Ill., Oct. 23.—The position of the executive board of the Illinois Federation of Labor on the national political situation was officially stated today in a telegram sent by President John H. Walker of the federation to E. J. Stack, secretary of the Oregon federation, in which Walker states that the executive board "takes the position that the election of Hughes would mean a greater calamity to common humanity in our country than was the civil war."

HUGHES WRITES SPEECHES.
Republican Nominee Spends Day Quietly at Montclair, N. J.—Prepares for Next Tour.

Montclair, N. J., Oct. 23.—Charles E. Hughes spent today quietly here. He took a long walk in the forenoon and went for an automobile ride in the afternoon. The Republican nominee also found time to go over correspondence and do some work on the speeches he will make in the next two weeks.

Are you in the "idle desk" class or do you dictate to The Dictaphone?

Are you still misleading yourself with the shorthand system? Still making that valuable stenographer waste her time writing your letters twice, once in shorthand and once on the typewriter? Still content to let her typewriter stand idle a good part of the day, adding to non-productive overhead? Are you still deluding yourself that you are conducting your business economically by paying at least a third more than you should for every letter—and not getting as good or as many letters in the bargain?

If you are, a word with you:

Isn't it about time you realized that you are a trailer? Isn't it about time you put this letter writing proposition on a modern basis? And dictate when and how you want, early or late, fast or slow, without regard to any stenographer's speed? And let her write your letters once on the typewriter—and write them better; and more of them? And do her work comfortably, free from the eye-and-nerve strain of shorthand? While you save at least a third on the cost of your letters—and speed up the whole letter-writing proposition while you do it?

Isn't it obvious you should dictate to The Dictaphone?

THE YELLOW CAMPAIGN.

The indecent, yellow campaign of the Democratic party might have been a decent, white one if the Democrats had wanted to appeal to anything but fear.

The Democratic party is not submitting the record of the administration in foreign affairs as a just and righteous record, but as one which, regardless of justice and righteousness, wisdom and reason, prevented something, and that something war.

The nation is asked to endorse a record, and seek more of the same sort of performance, not because the policies served American needs and promoted American security but because they were protective policies, for the time being, regardless of cost or consequence.

Mexico is a fair issue. Mr. Wilson's supporters could honestly maintain that the president's course was right and they could accept the consequences of the argument. They also could maintain that he was right in wasting two years in amused if not cynical observation of the defenseless position of the United States and that he was right in treating the demand for defense as hysteria. He so termed it and it is no more hysterical now, when he endorses the protective scheme, by words, than it was when he smiled at it and tried to talk it down.

Every issue which we have with Mr. Wilson could be submitted decently and honestly and the nation might seem to itself and to foreigners to be considering the worth of policies and to be formulating an answer to be given in November upon these policies.

Then everything would be decent and white, the nation would be analytical and self-respecting. Its decision might be wrong, in the opinion of persons who think Mr. Wilson has been wrong, but it would be a decision that did not seem to come from the councils of cowardice.

The Democratic party managers would not permit this. They sensed the possibility of making the nation hysterical by appealing to fear. They knew how women instinctively will protect their men from danger, and women vote in some important and doubtful states. They knew that the American tradition is to regard Europe as a continent made red from time to time by the cruelty and despotism of monarchies. They knew that the people of the United States felt that they lived in a great, comfortable oasis when all the world about them suffered heroic agonies.

With this knowledge they decided to abandon other issues and appeal to fear. The yellow campaign was on. Mr. Wilson, naturally, cannot give himself to this disgraceful proceeding, but his lieutenants need have no scruples and have none.

The American nation is not, we believe, a yellow nation, but it can be made to confess itself as one. Its resolution and courage can be impaired and its self-respect knocked to bits by confusion.

The Democratic party has engaged to do to the nation what a side show of horrors tries to do in a village. It is trying to make the people take one look at the blood sweating behemoth and run for home, thanking God for Wilson.

Democratic campaigners want to put one idea in the minds of the American people and have it take the place of fortitude, resolution, and ideas of duty. That word is fear.

This is the yellow campaign of the Democratic party. If we protest against it, in the name of everything that is sacred in American traditions and everything that is worthy in American character, we are militarists, seeking to drag the shrinking sons of shrieking women into the trenches. What a malignant lie! What a fit companion to the appeal to terror!

Wars come to people whether they want them or not. They have done so in the past. They are likely to do so in the future. We do not believe that anything violently revolutionary has altered or is about to alter human nature or human conditions. We believe that the world will be in early July, 1920, virtually what it was in early July, 1914. We see no reason for believing that there will be a violent change.

If there be no violent change the world will go on about its processes in 1920 and 1930 much as it went three and four years ago. What reason have any one to say, suppose, or think that violent change will affect the course of human affairs? What reason has any one to think that the American nation is aloof and protected from the course of human events?

There is no reason and what the American nation needs is fortitude, courage, resolution, an idea of duty, a sense of obligation to the generation which controls and to the generations which are to come. The yellow campaign of the Democratic party is trying to break down this resolution and fortitude, this higher idealism, and to substitute for idealism a concept of pork chops and allippers. A nation which devotes itself to the cowardice which the Democratic party in a yellow campaign of panic to preaching will lose not only its soul but its material prosperity.

The Lord hates a coward. The Democratic campaigners would make this a nation of cowards. The Democratic campaign at this moment is the Yellow Peril of the American people.

VOTE FOR THE TAX AMENDMENT.

If Illinois had not developed beyond its condition of a century ago there would be no special reason for amending the ancient form of taxation. But Illinois has developed. The 1816 conditions have vanished from the fields of agriculture, of manufacture, of transportation, of education—from every field except taxation. It now is 1916 everywhere except with the tax assessors.

The question is not one of party. Both Mr. Lowden and Mr. Dunne favor the amendment which is submitted to the voters next month. In fact, their opponents in the primaries also favored the amendment. Every tax reform body and commercial organization and labor union, all who have given the matter consideration, favor the change.

It is unfair that real estate should pay 70 per cent of the total—more than it paid forty years ago. It is unfair because it is a penalty on the industrious, saving citizen, who strives to buy a little land and own his own house. Everywhere else this is encouraged, but in Illinois it is discouraged. Even the man who rents his home has to pay eventually. Rents are higher than they need be, because personal property taxes are not paid.

Every one knows that personal property should pay far more than 80 per cent of the tax. Every one knows that stocks and bonds held in Illinois far exceed in value the horses owned in Illinois, although the tax returns indicate quite the contrary. The trouble is that one can hide his stock certificates in a tin box. He cannot hide a horse, or a house, or a half acre lot. Illinois puts a premium on tax dodging. Other states follow a different method of taxation, which Illinois is trying to adopt.

There is a chance to remedy the situation on Nov. 7. The proposed amendment allows the classification of property and aims at eliminating the tax dodger. Every good citizen ought to vote for it. His mere failure to vote against it is not enough, for the amendment must win a majority of all votes cast at the election. It cannot be ignored.

Watch the small ballot. Vote for the tax amendment.

TWO LABOR LEADERS.

When Mr. Gompers attempts to get the votes of union men for Wilson by misrepresenting the labor record of Hughes he is not serving the cause of labor. He is betraying it.

Of late years he has become more and more of a Democratic partisan and less and less of a representative of labor. His son has a good political job, and he himself has mixed deeply in the politics of the present administration. His tactics have become those of the partisan Democratic politician, and they have been unscrupulous. He has been giving a wholly distorted account of the Adamson law, trying to make union men swallow it as one thing when it was something else. He knows it is a wage raise for a small minority of union men, the highest paid in the country. He knows that if that wage raise sticks a good part of the cost eventually will come out of millions of union men and women and other workers who are not nearly as well paid.

But he is playing politics like any other political boss, and he expects to bunk his followers for his own advantage.

His appeal to union men to vote for Wilson has now been challenged by a labor leader of a different stripe—John Williams of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters, who was commissioner of labor in New York during Hughes' term, as governor and knows what sort of a man Hughes is.

John Williams, writing to John A. Metz of the carpenters' brotherhood of Chicago, one of the wisest and one of the squarrest men among American labor leaders, exposes Gompers' "deliberate misrepresentation" of Hughes' record.

THE TRIBUNE has shown what that record was. Hughes was called by another New York union leader, Mr. O'Hanlon, "the greatest friend of labor laws that ever sat in the governor's chair at Albany."

Gompers wants to suppress all that. He is afraid that if union men remember it they may not vote for his candidate, and his own political pull will be considerably damaged.

And why should union men vote for Mr. Gompers' candidate without considering their own interests? Wilson has aided the passage of laws favored by union labor. So has Hughes. Gompers wants Hughes' labor laws and labor decisions to be forgotten. If labor is looking out for its own interests and not Gompers' interests it will remember Hughes' labor laws and labor decisions and take them into account before it flocks like sheep after Gompers.

If the Adamson law sticks it will give more pay to about the highest paid labor in the country. It will not give a cent to any other labor. A good part of it will come out of the pockets of other labor which is lower paid and weaker in every respect than the men Wilson and Gompers have helped.

Gompers talks about the eight hour law. He knows it is not an eight hour law. It will not shorten any man's hours of labor, even the railroad man's.

What it will do is to block raises of pay for every employee of the railroads who is not in the brotherhoods. Why should the station agents, the trackmen, the clerks, and other 80 per cent of railroad men vote for Mr. Wilson because he has got a favored high paid minority more money at the expense of them?

The autocracy of labor won a money victory at the expense of the democracy of labor. Wilson and Gompers represented the former, not the latter.

Will the million of wage earners thank them for that? Not unless they swallow the false reports of Hughes' record put out by the politicians. Not unless they like to pay the high wages of a powerful minority made higher at their expense.

THANK GOD FOR CARRANZA.

He kept us out of Mexico.

Editorial of the Day

DANGER TO THE REPUBLIC.

(From the Minneapolis Journal.)

Is the law of force to supersede the law of justice in the settlement of industrial disputes in this country?

Are the American people ready to permit lynch law to make the decision, instead of the orderly law of arbitration?

Are we ready to concede that the victory in every industrial war shall go to the stronger side, no matter were justice lies?

The railway brotherhoods say, "We cannot arbitrate on a matter of principle; besides, we get the worst of it in arbitration." Then, holding a gun to the head of congress, they force a decision in their favor.

The street railway companies in New York say, "We cannot arbitrate; we shall break the strike without it." And New York walks, while they fight it out.

Arbitration, being human, is not a perfect instrument. Neither are the courts. But a citizen submits his case to the courts; if beaten, he accepts the decision as becomes a good citizen, knowing that, in the average, justice is done. Why should employees in the mass, or employers in the mass, do otherwise? Why should they have the privilege of enforcing their demands by violence or by threat?

The American people may well stand appalled at the betrayal by congress, while under duress, of a fundamental principle of the republic. It does not matter whether the brotherhoods' demands were right or wrong; what does matter is that they were obtained by threat of widespread disaster to the public. Those demands should have been submitted in an orderly and law abiding spirit to a fairly constituted tribunal of arbitration.

Danger to the republic lurks in such betrayal. They are the first signs of decay. Are the American people watchful enough and clear sighted enough to extricate them?

SIMPLE METHODS FOR MODIFYING MILK.

THE usual methods for modifying milk are too complicated for many mothers and for homes not well equipped. Here are two simpler methods, so simple, in fact, that any mother can carry them out.

The first method, taken from Kellogg's "Hygiene of Infancy," is the simpler of the two.

First month—One-third milk, two-thirds water, two ounces malt sugar to the quart.

A tablespoon set aside for the purpose should be used to measure the sugar. One ounce of malt sugar should be weighed and used as a guide. During the first month the baby should be fed twenty ounces a day in eight feedings of two and one-half ounces each, increased gradually to twenty-four ounces divided into four ounce feedings, six feedings a day at one month.

Second month—Half water with two ounces of malt sugar to the quart. The amount of food should increase gradually from twenty-four to thirty-six ounces. The number of feedings in the second month should be six. After the second month the amount at a feeding should increase more by mouth from four ounces at one month to seven and one-quarter ounces at six months.

Seven to nine months—Two-thirds milk, one-third water, two ounces malt sugar to the quart. The amount of modified milk taken should range from thirty-two to thirty-six ounces. The number of feedings should be five. The amount at a feeding should range from six and one-half to eight ounces.

Tenth to twelfth months—Undiluted milk with two ounces of malt sugar to the quart. Amount of food in twenty-four hours, twenty-eight to thirty-four ounces. Number of feedings, five; amount at a feeding, five and two-thirds to six ounces.

Older babies supplement the milk mixture with other foods.

In the first weeks, after the food has been increased in strength, it is well to decrease slightly the quantity given.

Nearly every mother can and practically all of the children should nurse their babies until the babies are three months old.

Grues feed babies between 3 and 9 months of age as follows: The baby is weighed. For each pound of weight the baby is given an ounce and a half of milk. This is diluted with enough water to bring up the quantity to the requirement.

Examples—A 3 month old baby, weighing eleven pounds, is given sixteen and one-half ounces of milk, eight and one-half ounces of water, and one ounce of malt food in twenty-four hours. This is given in five feedings of five ounces each.

A 6 month old baby weighing fourteen pounds is given twenty-one ounces of milk, fourteen ounces of water, and one ounce of malt food. This is given in five feedings of seven ounces each.

A baby 9 months of age is given one and one-quarter to one and one-third ounces of milk to the pound (in a day). The milk may be diluted with a thick starch gruel (for instance, an ounce of barley flour to a pint of water).

It will be noted that Grues gives less malt sugar than does Kellogg's. The amount of malt sugar to be given depends somewhat upon the tendency to constipation. If there is much gas, colic and diarrhoea with brown stools, it should be materially lessened. If there is much tendency to constipation it should be increased. Either malt sugar, malt food, malt extract or dextro-maltose can be used.

PROBABLY CONTAGIOUS.

Mrs. J. S. writes: "A number of children have a skin disease which has been called by various names, such as eczema, ringworms and fall sores. On some it affects the head, severely, seeming to eat under the skin, causing it to peel off, leaving the scalp a solid sore, very red and tender, while others have only a few sores on the face, limbs or other parts of the body. "What is the cause of this disease? Is it contagious? Should children so affected be allowed in school with well children?"

REPLY.

I have no guess as to what this eruption is. If it affects a number of children in the same school it is contagious, and children affected with it should not be allowed in school unless the school authorities will arrange to have the cases treated at or through the school.

GALLSTONES.

M. O. F. writes: "Should be grateful to you for a little information. I had acute attack of gallstones about six weeks ago. Two weeks ago I felt nagging pain in my right side about four inches above my waist line. It was quite severe for a few days and now I am conscious of it when breathing deeply, sneezing, laughing, etc. I would it be gallstone trouble? If so, will develop into something serious? Does it need immediate attention? Is there any diet for preventing these attacks?"

REPLY.

1. Probably so. 2. About an even chance that you will have severe attacks of pain. 3. No. Depends on how much it affects your comfort and efficiency. 4. Eat very sparingly of cream, butter, greasy, fat meats, olive oil, and all other gravies, acids of peas and beans.

LIMESTONE PHOSPHATES.

S. W. W. writes: "Kindly reply in your column if the continued use of limestone phosphate in hot water each morning will leave any ill effects."

REPLY.

It will.

LA MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

[Copyright 1916: By the Brentwood Co.]

EMPEROR MARIE of Russia celebrates today the fiftieth anniversary of her arrival in the land of her adoption and of her marriage to the late Emperor Alexander II.

The sympathy of happy unions in the annals of the reigning houses of Europe—and next Saturday the anniversary of her wedding; while in November she will also celebrate her seventieth birthday and the completion of the twenty-second year of her widowhood.

No woman now living can be said to have played a more important rôle in the history of Europe. Yet few women of her rank have been more misunderstood, especially abroad. This is partly due to antagonism on the part of the court and government of Berlin, which have seen in her, ever since she first went to Petrograd as a barely 20 year old bride, just half a century ago, a dangerous adversary of Prussia's policies and interests.

Born and reared as a princess of the Danes, who are perhaps the most democratic people of all Europe—a people whose liberalism is of so advanced a character that they frowned on the autocracy of nobility and the aristocracy, refusing to recognize any differences of birth and rank—Empress Marie has been since her marriage the most intimate friend and associate of her favorite sister, Queen Alexandra.

The sympathy of her tastes and of their views in all matters has been such as is usually only found in the case of twins. She has had all along a pronounced predilection for everything English, and since becoming a widow of twenty-two years ago made a point until the beginning of the war, of spending a considerable portion of each year in England, keenly enjoying English life and rendering herself almost as beloved there as her sister, Queen Alexandra.

Even prior to her husband's accession to the throne of Russia most of the courtiers of the late Emperor, Alexander II, and of her country home at Gatčina were English. English was the principal language spoken in her domestic circle there.

Nearly all of the furniture of the most intimate apartments of her various residences was English, and her children were entrusted to the care, first of English nurses and then of English governesses. Moreover, she always entertained a very warm affection for her brother-in-law, King Edward, whom she regarded as the most sagacious of counselors, not only by reason of his extensive knowledge of international relations and conditions but more particularly as a man of the world of alto-knightly, diplomatic experience.

This being the case, it is ridiculous to describe her as so prejudiced against the democratic principles amid which she was reared in Denmark, and against the liberalism which she has always so warmly admired in England, as to oppose liberalism in every shape and form in Russia, or to champion the cause there of reaction.

Far from being averse to the popular reforms of King and another Emperor, she was with his reign will at all times be identified in the pages of history, she has encouraged him therein and has accorded him her support, merely stipulating that the reform should be of a gradual and progressive nature, rather than of a too sudden character.

In this she was in full accord with the views of her brother-in-law, the late King, and of her most sagacious counselors, both at Petrograd and abroad, who felt convinced that changes of a too startling character, for which the people

WOMEN'S PARTY TO TRAIL BRYAN ON ILLINOIS TRIP

Feminine Orators Will Hold
Street Meetings to Offset
Nebraskan's Pleas.

William J. Bryan, when he starts out on his special train Thursday to campaign Illinois for Wilson, will be trailed by a squad of women speakers representing the Woman's party. For every argument Mr. Bryan will make in behalf of the Democratic party and the president the women will have counter arguments they propose to make at street meetings outside the halls where the Nebraskan is speaking.

This announcement was made last night from the Woman's party headquarters by Mrs. J. A. H. Hopkins of Northtown, N. J., who arrived in Chicago yesterday to take charge of the speakers bureau.

Republican Chiefs Pleased.
Republican managers looking after the woman's vote in Illinois received cheering reports yesterday of the progress of the organization work downstate. Practically all downstate counties now have direct representatives of the national and state committees working in them, and the general plan of building up a woman's election day committee in each voting precinct has been followed with an unexpected degree of success.

Sterling Confident of Women.
"There is no question now about the woman's vote in Illinois," State Chairman Fred E. Sterling said. "It is a perfectly safe prediction, judging from reports we received, that 60 per cent of the woman's vote will be for Hughes. In some counties where careful precinct polls of the women have been made the Hughes percentage will be as high as 75. The net Hughes majority in Illinois will be in excess of 200,000, and is going higher every day."

Former Printer Under Arrest.
But G. Olson, a former printer, sought by the police on a charge of operating a confidence game, was arrested in Buffalo yesterday. A warrant for his arrest, and that of his brother, Carl, was obtained by the Cassady Trust company, 300 West Dearborn street, who charge that the brothers borrowed $1,500 on the pretense that they were going to start a printing shop, but had

A poll made Saturday on the east-bound Santa Fe California limited showed: Hughes, 32; Wilson, 17; not voting, 4.

Charles W. Fairbanks was in Chicago yesterday for a few hours, on his way to Racine, where he spoke last night.

Republican national headquarters had three confidential reports yesterday from widely divergent points in Indiana. On the strength of them a statement was issued prognosticating that all Indians who have been Republicans in the past will vote next month for Hughes and Fairbanks—enough to make the state sure Republican.

Amateur Politician Analyzes Campaign Issues on Basis of U. S. Honor.

(Special dispatch to "The Tribune" from Truman H. Newberry, former secretary of the navy.)

White Sulphur Springs, W. V., Oct. 23. (To The Tribune, Chicago.)—I presided over a political meeting here tonight and heard the finest political speech I ever listened to. The Negroes in the gallery became hysterical, women in the audience wept, the men yelled themselves hoarse.

The speech was delivered by Larry Perin of New York, a young sporting man and amateur politician. Mr. Perin said he believed the indifference among the people of this country in regard to the presidential election was largely due to the fact that the basic differences in character and basic policies which the two candidates stood for had not been placed before the people in a calm and clear manner.

As to Adamson Law.
In regard to the Adamson law, Mr. Perin said, no one questioned that eight hours' work, eight hours' play, and eight hours' sleep was an earthly trinity which should be the proper divisions of a day. He said the substantial justice of the brotherhood's demands was recognized by all, but just as Mr. Hughes had thundered through the country, "no legislation without investigation," that it would be preferable to live under the absolute dominion of the Sultan of Sulu to existing under a government which yields to the emotion, fear.

The speaker said further, that it was the first time in the history of the United States that force law had found a lodgment in Washington.

Hughes' Foreign Policies.
In regard to Mexico he said the only thing Mr. Hughes wanted of Mexico was to deprive her of her power of doing harm; that the only thing Mr. Hughes wanted of Germany was that she should hold the life of an American as sacred as she holds the life of her own Kaiser; that the only thing Mr. Hughes wanted of England was that she should respect an American postage stamp as she respects the character of George Washington, whose picture is on that stamp.

In regard to the American navy he said: "I accuse, I indict, I condemn the politician Daniels for having bartered the efficiency of our battleships for a meas of political potage."

Nation's Honor Surrendered.
In regard to the national honor he said: "Let us recognize that at this moment American honor lies prone in the dust, struck down by a cowardly political policy; let us admit that American patriotism, a thing which should be as pure as the prayer of a child, has become tainted and soiled; that the men who should have sobered a nation drunk with gold have been intoxicated with the hope of votes."

In regard to Mr. Wilson, Mr. Perin said that perhaps he had been influenced by the persuasive powers of his associates, but that he would never change those associates, for to the autocratic schoolmaster the ideal pupil was always the most cringing pupil. He went on to say that perhaps had the president been influenced by some of the staid, nobler men in the Democratic party, he would today occupy a warmer corner in the hearts of his countrymen.

Urges Votes for Hughes.
In regard to the 7th of November Mr. Perin said:

"Let us all who have done so much in our lives for self and so much for party go to the polls on Nov. 7 and for our country's sake vote for Charles E. Hughes."

Mr. Perin had the following to say regarding Secretary of War Baker: "I know not if the angels weep, but if they do tears of blood must have fallen as they heard that man compare Washington and his followers at Valley Forge with Villa and his fellow rascals on the Rio Grande.

"I know not if Washington's spirit continues the benign influence which has been our inspiration for a hundred years, but, men of America, I know that that noble spirit must be bowed in shame that a Jersey City audience could listen to such words and retain its dignity."

200,000 DOWNSTATE LEAD FOR HUGHES, LEAGUE CLAIMS

Two hundred thousand majority for Hughes in the counties outside of Cook, is the estimate that is made by Ralph C. Otis, president of the Hughes alliance. He made his figures yesterday after looking over the reports from downstate organizers in the field.

"Railroad employees and farmers throughout the state are swinging into line for Hughes with such strength that the country districts will come up to Chicago with at least 200,000 majority for Hughes," Mr. Otis said.

POLITICAL NOTES BY WIRE.

MANCHESTER, N. H.—William G. McAdoo, secretary of the treasury, in a speech here declared that both Mr. Hughes and Col. Roosevelt have admitted that had either been president at the time the Lusitania was sunk, each would have taken a course which would have brought on war between the United States and Germany.

ROCHESTER, N. Y.—Frank Hanly, the prohibition party presidential candidate, turned his guns on President Wilson, declaring his "stupidities" on the liquor question outstripped the "Aldriches, Cannon, and Penrose" in their blindness and most reactionary hours.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—The position of the Illinois Federation of Labor on the national political situation was officially stated by President John H. Waller, "that the election of Hughes would mean a greater calamity to common humanity in our country than was the civil war."

JOLIET, Ill.—Col. Frank O. Lowden told the voters of Joliet what became of a portion of the $34,000,000 collected in taxes and spent by Gov. Deneen's administration in excess of the expenditures of any Republican administration. He made charges of violations of the law in letting contracts to favorites without advertising bids, of the substitution of new bids at higher figures after original bids were opened, and of enormous profits reaped by friendly contractors at public expense.

LABOR LAWYER SAYS 8 HOUR LAW IS A 'GOLD BRICK'

Hurts Bomb Shell Into Camp of Indiana Railway Men—Opposed by Farmers.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—The Adamson law, purporting to raise the wages of interstate train operating employees and to establish a "standard eight hour workday," is a "gold brick," according to an opinion rendered by Milton L. Clawson, the leading attorney for organized labor in Indiana. Attorney Clawson's opinion holds:

"That the Adamson law secures the railway employee ten hours pay for eight hours' work and pro rata pay for overtime only from Jan. 1, 1917, until thirty days after the investigating commission submits its report next summer.

"That under the Adamson law a railway employee who completes his 100 mile run in five hours, for example, is entitled to receive only five-eighths of his present pay.

"That under the Adamson law a railway employee must work at least eight hours to obtain his present pay.

"That after the expiration of the investigation period the wages of railway employees will be subject to adjustment by negotiation between the railway companies and the unions.

Opinion a Bomb Shell.
In view of the relations of Attorney Clawson to the unions which he has represented in many notable wage and other industrial disputes his opinion has proved a bombshell in the ranks of organized labor in Indiana and adjoining states and in the camp of the Democratic leaders. It has been issued by the Locomotive Engineers and Conductors' Mutual Benefit association of Detroit for the information of its members.

On the question of how long the employees are to receive ten hours' pay for eight hours' work the Clawson opinion says:

"The wage provided for in section 3 shall continue for a period not to exceed eleven months after the president has appointed his commission for investigation, and for a no longer period.

"After the expiration of the thirty days beyond the report of the commission there is no standard rate of wage mentioned either in section 1 or section 3 of the act, and this law does not govern it."

No Rate Provided.
Railway employees making runs of 100 miles in less than ten hours are now paid on the mileage basis. Many passenger runs of 100 miles are made in five hours and the employees now receive ten hours' pay for five hours' work.

On the effect of the Adamson law upon the wages of such employees the Clawson opinion says:

"If a trainman shall run 100 miles in five hours, and eight hours is the basis for reckoning his compensation, we are of the opinion that under the Adamson act after the maximum time of eleven months has expired there is no rate of wage provided and it is wholly a matter of negotiation between the railways and their employees; and we are of the opinion that within the eleven months as a maximum period the trainman who travels 100 miles in five hours will receive his proportionate part of the eight hour standard pay.

"It is true that Sec. 3 provides that the compensation for the standard eight hour day shall not be reduced below the present standard day's wage, but that simply means that if the man works the standard eight hour work day his income or compensation or wage under the Adamson act for that eight hours shall not be reduced below the present standard day's wage.

Gets But One-half.
"That is, if the trainman now works eight hours and gets a certain compensation, under the Adamson act if he works the eight hours he shall get not less than that compensation for a maximum period of eleven months, dating from the time the president appoints the commission of investigation, but if he does not complete the said eight hour work day and his run yields him at present a certain amount of income or compensation, the law does not state that he shall receive that certain income.

"If he works the standard eight hour day he gets the present standard pay; if he works one-half the present standard eight hour day he gets one-half the present standard wage scale."

Limited by Another Act.
That the Adamson law does not establish an eight hour day and that the work day is limited only by the sixteen hour service act is the opinion of Attorney Clawson, who says:

"The Adamson act does not state that his work shall cease with eight hours, but that it shall simply be a basis for reckoning compensation and that it shall be considered a standard day's labor. It further does not provide a penalty for any one who requires or permits service beyond the sixteen hour period.

"Under the Adamson act a man may work twenty-four hours. We have only one law which imposes a penalty for working more than sixteen hours, and that is the so-called hours of service act."

Alarm over the discovery of the joker in the Adamson law is spreading through the ranks of the passenger train crews. A striking instance of their attitude was furnished by the action of William B. Dorsey, 254 North Arsenal avenue, Indianapolis, a Vandalla railway engineer, who always has voted the Democratic ticket. He publicly announced that he would vote for Hughes because of the president's part in the passage of the Adamson law.

Engineer Rebels.
"I have read the so-called eight hour law," Mr. Dorsey said, "and I find that it will cut my wages in two. I will not vote for any man that does a thing like that. I have been an engineer on the Vandalla for forty-three years, and for the last thirty-five years I have had a passenger run. I finish my run between Indianapolis and Vincennes in four hours, and I get a full day's pay for it. But this new law will allow me only four hours' pay for four hours' work, and this will cut my pay in two. I have read the law and understand what it means. If all other railroad employees would read the law and study its provisions they would find out just what it means."

The Republicans are working hard to regain the support of the workmen attracted to Wilson by his professions of service to the cause of union labor. They are handicapped in Indiana, however, by the intense opposition of organized labor to James E. Watson, the Republican candidate for the short term senatorship. Watson is condemned by organized labor because of his anti-labor record in congress and his relations with the National Association of Manufacturers in fighting the unions, which were disclosed by the Mulhall scandal.

Democratic Extravagance.
If the Republican state ticket is elected it will be largely because of the extravagance charged up to the Ralston administration, which Mr. Goodrich, the Republican candidate for governor, has been analyzing on the stump with telling effect. Congressman Adair, the Democratic candidate for governor, has been on the defensive from the start in this respect.

The Democrats now have eleven of the thirteen representatives in congress. The Republicans claim that they will make a gain of seven members. In the Terre Haute district Eugene V. Debs, long time a national Socialist leader, is running for congress on the Socialist ticket. The reports from that district indicate that so many Democrats will vote for Debs that Congressman Moss, the Democratic candidate, probably will be defeated and Everett Sanders, the Republican candidate, elected.

The temper of the farmers, not only in Indiana, but throughout the north and west, was disclosed by the attitude of the Farmers' national congress which met here last week. The southern delegates and agents of the administration strove unremittingly throughout the sessions to obtain an endorsement of President Wilson. The northern and western delegates defeated all these efforts and forced the adoption of resolutions which constitute a severe indictment of Wilson legislation and policies.

The congress urged the adoption of the Susan B. Anthony equal suffrage amendment to the constitution in accordance with "fundamental principles of human equality, real representative government, and economic justice."

Three Rivals Appear on Same
Platform in Nonpartisan Appeals to Ministers.

The three candidates for state's attorney—MacLay Hoyne, Harry B. Miller, and William A. Cunnea—appeared on the same platform yesterday. They had been invited by the Chicago Church Federation council to appear before it at the First Methodist church, Clark and Washington streets. Partisan politics was barred. Four hundred ministers were present and all three candidates discussed themselves without discussing each other.

The Rev. M. P. Boynton presided. The Rev. E. P. Bell of the Midnight mission made the prayer that preceded the speeches, and the Rev. William Barrett Millard, secretary, announced the rules, which provided there must be no personalities and a twenty minute time limit on each speaker. Miller was first on the list, Cunnea second, and State's Attorney Hoyne was third.

Excerpts from the remarks of each follow:

HARRY B. MILLER

"When I entered this campaign I expected the support of the clergy and the good people because I knew I would not have the support of the bad people.

"In my primary campaign my opponents attempted to make capital out of the charge that Harry B. Miller had belonged to the Salvation Army, that he had prayed on the street corners of this city. I have no disposition to deny it.

"My mother is now an active member of the Salvation Army. If the people believe that that account I shall stay at home and not enter the office of state's attorney. I will take defeat with a smile on my face and with conscience clear."

WILLIAM A. CUNNEA

"Years ago there was an ignorant impression that Socialists were dangerous people and that there was something about free love in the Socialist propaganda. I want to tell you that I have but one wife. I support but one flat and have reared but one family—a family of eight, six boys and two girls.

"I am the only candidate running who is not backed by any vice element or the liquor interests. When they asked me four years ago about the segregation of vice I said: 'If it is necessary it is not an evil, and if it is not necessary, if, though, the segregated vice district is to remain, put it on the Lake Shore drive, so that the governors may take little Willie past it with safety.'

do not put it against the heels of the poor."

MACLAY HOYNE

"I agree with the last speaker: Let your intelligence decide the issue. In my four years I have enforced the law. I am a candidate in my record and I am here with an account of my stewardship. Having enforced the law, should you retire me for an untired man? Is that sense?

"Convictions obtained in three and one-fourth years of my term compared with a similar period from Mr. Healy's term and Mr. Wayman's term show the following:

"Convictions under Healy, 11,133.

"Convictions under Wayman, 19,206.

"Convictions under Hoyne, 42,262."

Prosecution of what is said to be one of the largest bankruptcy conspiracies ever indicted in this country will be begun this morning when ten men are arraigned before Judge Francis M. Wright in the federal district court. The principal count in the indictments charges the concealment of assets.

The principal defendants are:

Abe Krescum, proprietor of a cloth-

Sam Rosenthal, proprietor of a warehouse.

Louis Mandel,
Benjamin Shaffner, an attorney.

It is charged that all of Krescum's

Wilson on Labor

"I am a fierce partisan of the open shop."

Woodrow Wilson. (1909.)

"The class formed by the labor organizations and leaders is a formidable enemy to equality and betterment of opportunity."

Woodrow Wilson. (1907.)

"Labor unions drag the highest man to the level of the lowest."

Woodrow Wilson. (1905.)

"The usual standard of the laborer in our day is to give as little as he may for his wages."

Woodrow Wilson (1909.)

These are the convictions of a Presidential candidate when he was NOT in public life—when he was NOT running for office—when he was NOT looking for votes.

They are the expressions of a scholar, the teacher of political economy, the writer of text-books and histories.

Not the hasty, ill-considered opinions of an under-graduate, but the deliberate reasoning of a seasoned mind—of a university head.

These are the views that Woodrow Wilson held when he was preparing thousands of young men for their administrative responsibilities, forming their judgment upon the relations between employer and employee, fulfilling his function of interpreter and advisor toward countless students who have since engaged in business for themselves, become executive heads in vast organizations or teachers in turn for another generation of future employers of labor.

These are the opinions which he held when he did not expect to hold office, when it did not advantage him to express any other opinions.

Woodrow Wilson did not claim to become a friend in need to labor until he had need of labor's friendship for his re-election.

Because this course is typical of the man—because it is impossible to know what he really believes or how long he will continue to believe anything he claims to believe—because he is inconsistent and indecisive—we oppose his re-election.

Hold a bottle of Nujol up to the light. Its crystal transparency is without a flaw. Every trace of impurity, every vestige of color or "bloom" has been removed by varied and many times repeated processes of refining.

Nujol is water-white, tasteless and odorless. It neither looks, tastes, nor smells like "medicine." As a matter of fact it isn't medicine at all, in the ordinary sense. It is not a laxative or purgative, is not absorbed by the system, hence doesn't form a habit. It acts in effect as an internal lubricant, softening the contents of the intestines and so promoting normal movements.

Hughes on Labor

"There are some who regard organized labor as a source of strife and menace of difficulty; I regard it as a fine opportunity for the improving of the conditions of the workingman."

Charles E. Hughes. (1908.)

"The mission of labor organizations is one of the finest that any organization of men could guard."

Charles E. Hughes. (1908.)

"He was the greatest friend of labor laws that ever occupied the governor's chair. He signed fifty-six labor laws [one third of all passed in the state since 1777], among them many of the best ever enacted in this or any other state. He urged the enactment of labor laws in his message to the legislature, even going so far as to demand a labor law at an extra session. Human rights has a steadfast and sympathetic upholder in the new justice."

N. Y. Legislative Labor News. (1910.)

These are not new opinions from the Republican candidate nor a recent estimate concerning him.

Hughes recorded his stand on labor NOT when a candidate for office, but as a governor of New York soon to retire from political life to become a Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, where he expected to remain for the rest of his life.

They were the convictions of Charles E. Hughes on the eve of joining the highest tribunal in America, a court of last resort—at a time and in a situation when no possible advantage could accrue to him from any public expression.

No estimate of his fitness to fill the office of President with firmness, fairness, and justice can be stronger than the above comment from a review of his career as governor by the organ of the New York State Federation of Labor.

He has no need to talk—he has done.

He said what he believed then—he believes what he said, now.

Therefore, we support the candidacy and the convictions of Charles E. Hughes.

YACHT CLUB MAN JUST CHUCKLES OVER WARRANT

Youth Accuses F. M. Doran of False Arrest, but Commodore Says He's Offender.

An irate young man went before Judge

Clark in the South Clark street court yesterday and obtained a warrant charging Frank M. Doran, treasurer of the Gloria Light company, with false imprisonment and impersonating an officer. While Mr. Doran, as indignant as his accuser, was declaring he "just wanted to be arrested," the word of the impending "pinch" reached his brother, Robert L. Doran, president of the lighting concern and the commodore of the old Columbia yacht club. The elder Doran chuckled. "The poor boy's after the wrong man," he said. "I suppose I'll have to let him right."

"My brother has nothing to do with it. It was O. G. Haliburton of the Gas company and myself. And we didn't imprison this fellow or arrest him. We just wanted to ask him some questions."

Here's the other side. The complainant, R. B. Lee of Oak Park, told a different version of his adventure.

"I'm a lawyer myself," he said, "though I haven't been admitted to the bar. About six months ago my father became sales manager for the Gloria Light company. He found things were not as they were represented to be, and two weeks later he quit."

"Yesterday Doran telephoned to my home and got me down to Sullivan's restaurant. I couldn't find any one there who seemed to be looking for me, but as I started out Doran walked up to me."

"You're Under Arrest."

"I'm a detective," he said, "and you are under arrest."

"He showed me a star on his vest and added, 'I'm one of twelve men wearing these stars, and what I say goes with Chief Healey.'"

"Then he started to question me about my father's business affairs. I told him I didn't know anything about them and wouldn't tell him if I did. He kept me a prisoner in an alcove of Sullivan's for two hours and then said I could go."

Doran's Story.

Frank M. Doran was uncommunicative when told of the warrant, confining himself to the intimation that he "just wanted to be arrested." His brother was more talkative.

"Haliburton and I talked with Lee at Sullivan's," he said, "and it's true I showed him my star from Chief Healey, but I didn't arrest anybody. I had heard Lee's father was going to be at the restaurant, and we went there to have him arrested on charges growing out of his dealings with us."

Wrong Name Given.

"When we got there we found this young fellow. He said he was a son of Attorney Winston of Winston, Payne, Strawn and Shaw. I called up Mr. Winston's home and found he wasn't. Then he broke down, wept, and admitted he was a son of the man we wanted."

"He pleaded with me not to let the affair get into the newspapers, saying it would kill his mother. We promised, and the next I heard of him was this thing about the warrant."

"We were trying to give the father a chance, too. Now we'll have him arrested and prosecuted to the full extent of the law."

The younger Lee said his father is in Canada.

MOTHER'S REMEDY FOR BRUISES

Children's Bumps, Sprains and Minor Hurts Quickly Relieved by Sloan's Liniment.

It is the very nature of children to hurt themselves—to come crying to mother with little fingers bruised, with heads bumped, with sprained ankles and wrists.

They are painful hurts, too. But their pain and their crying cease the minute use of Sloan's Liniment. A single application of Sloan's Liniment and the little fellow's bravely kept back tears give way to smiles. His hurt is relieved.

In every home where there are children a bottle of Sloan's Liniment is a necessity.

Aching muscles, rheumatism, turnbells, stiff neck, backache, chilblains, etc., can be effectively relieved with Sloan's Liniment. Cleaner than musky ointments or plasters.

Sloan's Liniment can be obtained at all drug stores, 25c, 50c and $1.00.

A Phonograph Sensation "The World's Finest Phonograph"

MADE IN CHICAGO

When the Brunswick was announced experts marveled. And music lovers, who had longed for such an instrument as this, hailed the Brunswick with delight.

One feature that places all is the Brunswick adaptability to all records. The two instantly interchangeable sound boxes permit the use of different needles—the proper one for each make of record. Yet no extra charge is made.

The Brunswick brings to one instrument—to each home—all the hitherto exclusively controlled artists.

Yet another feature of the Brunswick announcement produced nation-wide interest. This was the alliance between the House of Brunswick and Pathe.

Pathe records have first place in Europe, but heretofore have been barred from many homes in America. They are now available to all Brunswick owners.

NOW COME NEW STANDARDS
Hear the Brunswick—try the same record on several makes of machines—draw your own conclusions. Our dealers will be delighted to give you this opportunity any day this week.

Practical Local Pride

You are proud of being an American and proud of being a resident of the great Central West. You are proud of Chicago.

But "faith without works is dead"; and unless you do something in support of your convictions they are a delusion and a sham.

What shall you do?

Patronize home industries?

Don't send your money to England or New England when you can get equal quality and equal value from Chicago manufacturers.

Your prosperity depends on that of the Central West as a whole. And the prosperity of the Central West, as a whole, depends on the money we keep here.

Make your "local pride" practical and efficient.

CHARLEY WHITE POUNDS A PITTSBURGH HOPEFUL

Dick De Sanders Handed
Fine Trimming in Bout of Six Rounds.

WINS ON LOW SPEED.

"TRIBUNE" DECISIONS

At Pittsburgh, Pa.—Charley White beat Dick De Sanders (6).
At New York—Willie Astay beat Joe Lynch (10).
At Philadelphia, Pa.—Jack Dillon beat Larry Williams (9). Philly Vergetts and Pal Moran fought a draw (15).
Kenosha, Wis.—Charlie Henderson stopped Johnny Herzog (1); Young Russell beat Pete Johnson (6); Johnny Bellis beat Johnny Hoffman (10); Charley Lucas and Johnny Muto fought a draw (6).

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 23.—[Special.]—Charley White's reputation didn't suffer any tonight, for he whipped Dick De Sanders in a frame in a six round bout before the Duquesne A. C. at Moore temple.

White never extended himself. In fact, he showed just about 60 per cent of his ability, acting as mercifully to the local lad as he could. That is, with one exception, the fourth round. In this frame, with a big lead on points, Charley didn't pay any attention to the wild swinging left that De Sanders was bringing into use, on the advice of his seconds, and the local lad just timed one beauty, which caught White squarely on the jaw.

Pays for His Folly.
The blow rocked White's head and set the bugs at the ringside wild. As for Dick, this was the very thing Charley needed to wake him up and he sailed into De Sanders and punished him a plenty. But the local brawler hit a sturdy bluff chap, and he managed to keep his head up.

White started off with a straight left jab to the face which he repeated six times in the first round before Dick could tap him lightly in the face. That is the story of the round. A slight change occurred in the second round. In this frame, with a big lead on points, Charley didn't pay any attention to the wild swinging left that De Sanders was bringing into use, on the advice of his seconds, and the local lad just timed one beauty, which caught White squarely on the jaw.

Rough Round for De Sanders.
De Sanders came up smiling in the fifth, but a look of pain replaced the smile when White started a whirlwind of rights and lefts to the face, neck and ears. Dick's head looked like an elephant's appendage at the end of the round, and when the bell rang the local lad thanked his lucky stars.

With the fans at the ringside howling like fury as the sixth round started White took things easy for a while, seeming to pity the poor lad who had been inveigled into the ring with him. This gave De Sanders courage and he started to mix, getting in a few glancing blows which looked good to his supporters but which didn't faze White.

Loser Weathers Final Storm.
Charley went after a knockout in the last half minute, and it would have been better for De Sanders had he succeeded. For it would have saved him a lot of punishment. But the local brawler insisted on staying on his feet and when the bell rang he was just able to stand up. He took a thoroughly good lacing and White admired him for his game.

DILLON BEATS AN EASY ONE

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 23.—[Special.]—Jack Dillon of Indianapolis conceded Larry Williams of this city eleven pounds and handed him a lacing in six rounds at the Olympia A. A. tonight. Williams spoiled the bout by his incessant clinching and kept Dillon from scoring a knockout. There is no question that had Williams boxed in an open fashion, the contest would not have gone the limit.

PUGILISTIC POINTERS

BY RAY C. PEARSON.

MATEUR boxers of Chicago will take part in an intercity tournament at Detroit next month. Gordon F. Goyette of the Detroit A. C. yesterday wrote Harry Forbes, boxing instructor of Bernstein's gymnasium, asking him to pick a team to represent this city in the contest. Many local amateurs have turned up since the bid was clamped down by city officials nearly a year ago, and Forbes expects the boys he takes to Detroit will be newcomers.

Joe Sherman and Manager Oscar Gutter are so dissatisfied with the result of the recent bout between Sherman and Joe Rivers at Cincinnati, when Rivers won on a foul in three rounds, that they want another match and are willing to wager $1,000 on the side.

Johnny Ertie, the St. Paul bantamweight, wants another battle with Kid Williams. Ertie at present is recovering from a malarial attack, but says he will be ready to scrap the Baltimore boy late next month or the early part of December.

DEDICATE FOUNTAIN AT INTERSECTION OF NATIONAL HIGHWAYS

Dedication ceremonies of the Lincoln highway memorial fountain erected by members of the Arché club of Chicago were held yesterday afternoon at the junction of the Dixie and Lincoln highways, Chicago Heights. Gov. Dunne found that his campaign bookshelves were so cluttered with requests, his place being taken by William G. Edens, Lincoln highway commissioner for Chicago.

Mr. Joseph M. Steele, president of the Arché club, made the presentation address and Mayor Hood of Chicago Heights responded. The Col. J. A. Sexton post of the G. A. R. under Commander Lake, was present, and as the fountain is located on school property, the students were given an afternoon off. Prof. Boyer spoke for the school. Delegations from the Chicago Heights and Chicago Automobile clubs were present.

Members of the Arché club were guests at a luncheon given by the Women's club of Chicago Heights. Mrs. Frank E. Durfee acting as toastmaster. Mrs. Donald T. McClure made the speech of welcome. The fountain has two troughs for animals and four cups for people. It is surrounded by an Arché cross.

MILWAUKEE BOUTS TONIGHT.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 23.—[Special.]—With the prospect of a big match next month stirring them on, Young Ahearn of New York and Len Rowlands of Milwaukee finished training tonight for their ten round bout tomorrow night. Both boys will be under weight. In the other half of the double windup Frankie Callahan, New York, and Matty McCue, Racine, will clash over the ten mile course. The winner of the Ahearn-Rowlands go will get a fight with either Wild Bob Mohr or Jeff Smith.

NOTES OF CUE PLAYERS.

The Cooper-Broderick match in the single snook tournament at Foley's was postponed. Barnes (20) and Hope (12) will play tonight.

Huffer (40) defeated Zornach (40), 40 to 32, in the class A tournament at Burdick's.

Cox and Edenberg play tonight. In the event, Bud and Neil defeated Count and Lenz (30), 30 to 7. Newman and Shobe will play Champ and William tonight.

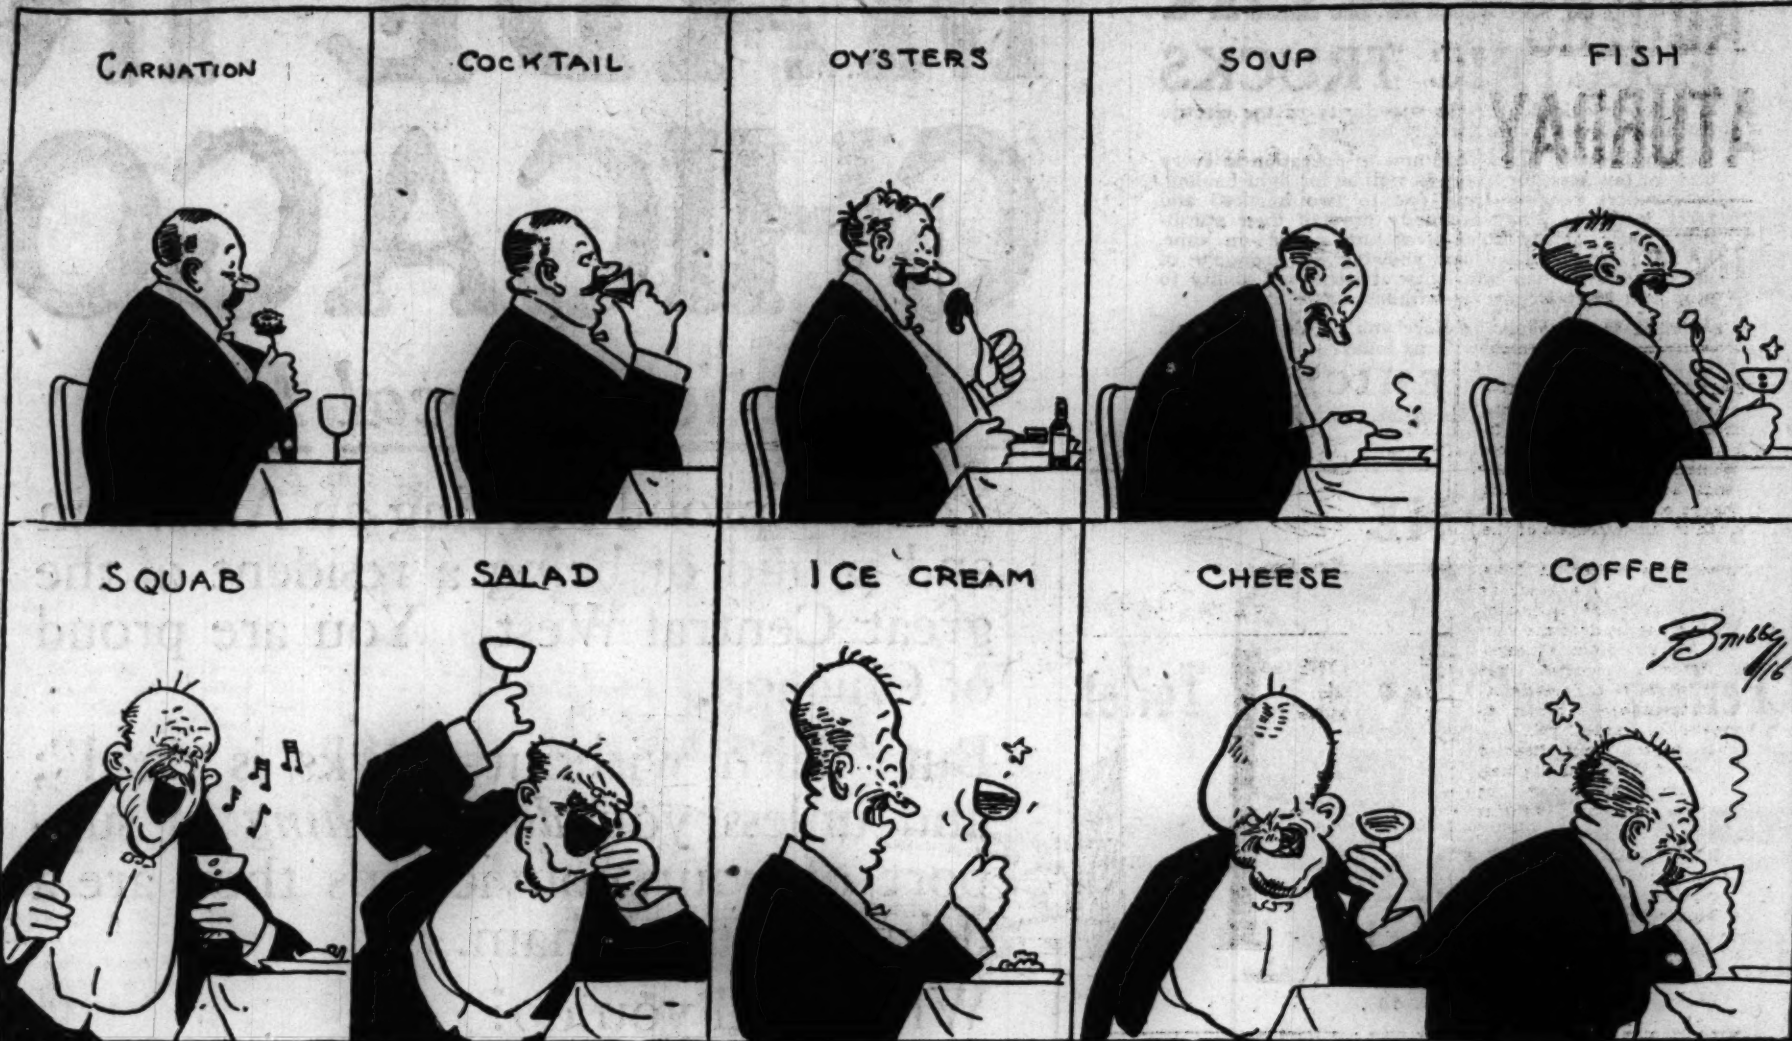

Roberts (44) defeated Thomas (42), 44 to 22, in the class A tournament at Mame's.

last night in seventy-nine innings. He had high run of 4. In class B Lewis (38) defeated Mack (41), 38 to 37 in seventy-five innings. Mack had high run of 4. Tonight in class A Falk will meet Juul and Halliday will play Wartel.

Welker Cochran averaged 12 in his 200 point match at 15-2 against Wilson Henderson at Mame's last night and won 300 to 200. Cochran had high runs of 87 to 35. Henderson, who looks to be one of the best of the local ballplayers, had high run of 34 and averaged 8. Cochran will play Al Taylor at Milwaukee tonight.

BALL PLAYERS' FRAT PROTESTS AGAINST BARNSTORMING FINE

New York, Oct. 23.—Reports from American league headquarters in Chicago that the members of the world's champion Boston Red Sox and other players enrolled in the league may be fined for participating in so-called barnstorming games after the close of the regular season has brought forth a vigorous protest from the Baseball Players' fraternity.

President David L. Fultz stated today that the fraternity cannot recognize the right of organized baseball to fine its members for such an alleged offense, and further pointed out that players were acting well within their legal rights in taking part in such games.

Play After Contracts Expire.

Fultz's statement follows: "The fraternity cannot recognize the right of organized baseball to fine players for taking part in games after the season is over and after their contracts have expired. The players have, of course, no right to represent any club without the consent of its owner, but as long as they trade upon their own personal reputations they are clearly within their rights."

No Right to Fine Men.

"I am not discussing the advisability of pennant winners barnstorming after the season, as that is an entirely different matter. I am simply commenting upon their right to do so if they so desire."

"If the National commission thins the alleged offense of such importance and that the act would be a wise and

Some of the birds were decoys, in fact, but Tinker didn't shoot 'em, according to the doctor, who furnished the following alibi for Manager Joe Tinker was doing camp penance one afternoon, when he heard several shots back of the quarters, and on rushing in the direction of the noise discovered a man shooting through the fence which surrounded the aquatic corral in which they kept their flock of decoys. Joe yelled at the murderer, who responded by holding up his hand for silence and answering in a loud stage whisper: "S-s-s-h-h-h! You got blasted foot-wild geese!"

"I know they are, but whatshall are you doing killing our decoys?" yelled Tinker.

The intruder proved to be a neighboring farmer, who had already shot a pair of geese which cost $2 a pair. Tinker bowed the farmer over with his fist, took his gun away from him, and demanded the price of the dead decoys. As the countryman did not have a cent on him, Tinker threatened him—the Cub manager kept his gun for indemnity, and it will cost the Rube $12 to redeem his fowling piece.

Out of justice to Tinker it may be added we have ways found Dr. Pitts a man of unquestioned veracity.

All Parks to Have Library Branches.

Plans for the establishment of branches of the public library in all parks of the city and in all future parks, school buildings, recommended by a special committee of the public library board, were adopted at a meeting of the directors yesterday. The plans will be taken up immediately with the city commission and the board of education. Dr. Max Henius, president of the library board, said:

"The special committee recommending establishment of branches of the library in the public parks was composed of Dr. A. E. Burr, Charles G. Brayer and Oscar H. Mayer. President Henius was chairman of the special committee recommending establishment of branch libraries at all public schools hereafter constructed in Chicago."

Under the latter plan, the board of education will be asked to submit all plans for school buildings to the library board to give the board an opportunity to recommend location of the library offices in the buildings.

A big increase in business followed the inauguration of the new system of allowing each holder of a library card to take out five books at a time on a stamp card, inaugurated last week, the library reported. The number of books taken out last Saturday—4,839—broke all previous records of the library, and exceeded the number of books taken out the same day last year by 50 per cent.

Plans for the establishment of branches of the public library in all parks of the city and in all future parks, school buildings, recommended by a special committee of the public library board, were adopted at a meeting of the directors yesterday. The plans will be taken up immediately with the city commission and the board of education. Dr. Max Henius, president of the library board, said:

"The special committee recommending establishment of branches of the library in the public parks was composed of Dr. A. E. Burr, Charles G. Brayer and Oscar H. Mayer. President Henius was chairman of the special committee recommending establishment of branch libraries at all public schools hereafter constructed in Chicago."

Under the latter plan, the board of education will be asked to submit all plans for school buildings to the library board to give the board an opportunity to recommend location of the library offices in the buildings.

A big increase in business followed the inauguration of the new system of allowing each holder of a library card to take out five books at a time on a stamp card, inaugurated last week, the library reported. The number of books taken out last Saturday—4,839—broke all previous records of the library, and exceeded the number of books taken out the same day last year by 50 per cent.

"UNTRIED," HIS FOES CHARGE

This is the second of a series of character sketches by Mr. Hyde of the three candidates for state's attorney.

BY HENRY M. HYDE.

If the Salvation Army headquarters in New York had been a trifle more than in their pay for legal services Harry B. Miller would not be running in state's attorney of Cook county. It was in the fall of 1912 that young Miller—then 28 years old—went down to New York, after serving several years as attorney for the western district of the army in Chicago, to take a similar position in the eastern headquarters.

He stayed in New York about a year and a half, returning finally to Chicago, because, as he says, "I was unable to make satisfactory financial arrangements." Doubtless at the time he was disappointed. In view of what has happened to him since it was probably the goddess of Good Fortune in disguise who prompted the pennine policy which sent Miller back to Chicago.

"Stepchild" of D-stinity.

There are other incidents in the Miller career which almost justify the claim that he is at least the stepchild of destiny. In talking with him one gets the impression of a man whose eyes are as yet a little dazzled by the unaccustomed spotlight of political prominence. But he is modest about it all. "I am very proud and very grateful for the position I now occupy," he says.

A little above the average height, with a figure which approaches lankiness, Miller wears his hair combed back in a high wave above his forehead. His face is smooth shaven and his eyes look out through round nose-glasses. He is accustomed to wear a suit and a standing collar. One imagines a conscious effort to appear dignified and impressive.

Joins the "Big Bill" Crowd.

A few months after the return from New York the preliminary Thompson campaign for mayor got well under way. Harry B. Miller went to "Big Bill," offered a congratulatory hand, and joined his support. A little later he was given a place in the organization department at the Thompson campaign headquarters. There he impressed himself to the extent that when Thompson announced his cabinet the name of Harry B. Miller appeared as prosecuting attorney for the city.

The political enemies of Miller—he says—do not have any active personal animosity against him. They are simply of the opinion that he has not had the same training and as a lawyer which would qualify him to serve as state's attorney and that he is a mere creature of the city administration.

Fear City Hall Crowd.

When Miller in the Criminal Court building, they say, the city hall could not be pleased without any check on his activities. Miller's expected to be a lawyer, they declare, has been almost entirely to his services as attorney for the western branch of the Salvation Army and to his two years as a city prosecutor.

Miller's friends answer these charges quietly and with deep earnestness. "I was a poor boy," says Miller. "I had my own way to make. I lacked the assistance of influential friends. A young lawyer so situated does not pick up what the newspapers put in front of him. But I have always felt that every case put in my hands was the most important case on the city hall. The client who intrusted me with his management, I am no younger than was Densen or Luther Laflin Miller, his husband, when they were elected to the office which I seek."

Mayor Sees Fight on Crime.

Nearly 2,000 members of the Chicago bar endorse Harry Miller's candidacy, says Mayor Thompson. "I am more than satisfied," he said, "that the city hall has made in the office of city prosecutor."

"And you can bet," went on the mayor, "that if Harry is elected state's attorney he will cooperate with the city hall in the prevention of crime and the punishment of criminals. You can be sure that he will not disregard the city in the eyes of the world in making illegal and unnecessary raids and other things running amuck."

"I shall cooperate with the city hall and the punishment of criminals," Miller explained. "I am handling crime in Chicago. But I shall be under no man's control, and I will enter office with no pledge of any kind. I shall show that Mayor Thompson would never ask me to do anything improper. In any event, I feel myself safe in declaring I shall do nothing which my own conscience declares to be wrong."

THE HELENS

Being Northwestern Initiates of the Helen Club Who Presented Offering of Pennies and Silk Stockings.

The above pictured namesakes of the renowned dame of Troy are three of the seven new members of the Helen club at Northwestern university. Although the old silk stockings, as well as fifty shining pennies, are the only mementos of the club, the Helen club has been limited to sixteen, but soon it will be expanded to include all of the co-ed Helens. The seven newest members are Helen Frances, Greenville, Gale, Judith, Kohler, McQuillan, and Smith.

The whole training of my life would stand in the way.

The Miller story, so far, is typical of the ambitious and hard working boy, born of poor parents and fighting for recognition in a big city. His father is a carpenter by trade and was a lay preacher in the Methodist church. His mother is a woman of great piety, who years ago joined the Salvation Army, in which also his father served.

Young Miller left the public schools to enter Lewis institute, through which he worked his way. Entering a law office as a clerk, he earned his law office training at the Kent College of Law. By the time he was 12 years old he had learned to play the cornet and thereafter until ten years ago, at least, he played regularly in one of the Salvation Army street bands. He was admitted to the bar ten years ago.

He is a Joiner of Secret Societies.

He is prominent as a Mason and pays dues in some dozen or more other secret and fraternal orders. Before his connection with the Thompson administration he took an active part in ward politics out in Austin. He is modest in talking about his political training, as he seems to be about most things. Once or twice he was chosen a delegate to minor political conventions and he got training as a public speaker by appearing regularly as a lecturer in the courses conducted by the Daily News.

His friends point with especial pride to the fact that at the September primaries he carried thirty-one out of the thirty-two wards in Chicago—one more even than fell to the credit of Col. Lowden. In the thirty-third ward, where both he and his chief opponent, John E. Northrup, live, Miller was successful by a large plurality. As a vote getter, he appears to have some justification for the belief that destiny has taken him by one hand and Mayor Thompson by the other.

PRINCIPAL HEIL
IGNORED LETTER
FROM U. S. AGENT

Gen. Stuart Officially Requested an Interview with Accused Defamer.

MRS. MOORE AT HER DESK.

Gen. James E. Stuart, chief postal inspector in Chicago, admitted last night that he had summoned John Henry Heil, ousted principal of the Morgan Park high school, to his office three days ago and that Heil had failed to answer the summons.

The federal authorities had been investigating for two months to determine the author of the poison pen letters that Mr. Heil is charged with mailing broadcast in an effort, it is said, to defame the character of Mrs. Marie Moore.

Phones to Mrs. Moore.

Following the publication of the story of the principal's resignation, Gen. Stuart telephoned Mrs. Moore. That was last Sunday. He told her he was surprised to see the exposé.

"I had already sent for Mr. Heil," said Gen. Stuart. "I wrote him a letter on government stationery, three days ago telling him to come immediately to my office. He failed to appear. I would have had the whole matter cleared up within twenty-four hours."

Gen. Stuart refused to admit that he had enough evidence in his possession to demand the prosecution of Mr. Heil.

"You may be sure, though," he said, "that I was not having him come to my office for nothing. The government never divulges its information or evidence in advance of prosecution."

"I would advise Mr. Loeb and the others interested in this case to present immediately what evidence they have before United States commissioner or a grand jury. If the man is guilty he should be shown no mercy. I never read such vile letters in my life."

Loeb Offers Trial.

In the meantime Jacob Loeb, president of the school board, issued a statement offering to allow Mr. Heil to reconsider his resignation and demand a trial by the school board. Mr. Loeb had given Mr. Heil twelve hours in which to leave town. Mr. Heil was not to be found yesterday.

"I am asked if I will withhold the resignation of John H. Heil," said Mr. Loeb in the statement, "and permit him to have a trial. The published facts in reference to this school employee's conduct are so mild when contrasted with the violence of the complete facts that if it is deemed necessary to expose in all its horror the conduct of this man for public perusal, simply to give him a trial, I will not interpose an objection; but in the interests of plain dealing, to say nothing of the school's credit, I must leave it for his own determination."

Would Injure Schools.

"If he requests a trial, he may have the same, but to continue publicity of this matter must work such an injury to the schools that those who knowingly promote it will stand over after-ward, condemned as enemies to the system."

Mr. Loeb said that no charges had been brought against Mrs. Moore, and consequently no action would be taken against her.

Supt. J. D. Schoep sent a man to take Mr. Heil's place at the Morgan Park high school, and issued instructions that the former principal was not to be admitted to the school in case he should appear. Several requests for the place made vacant by Mr. Heil's resignation were made to Mr. Loeb. Henry S. Crane, principal of the Lewis-Champlain elementary schools, is among those seeking the place.

Mrs. Moore, the victim of the poison pen letters, went to her classroom at the Harrison Technical school, where she teaches typewriting. She told her pupils of the attack on her reputation and was cheered by them. They promised to stand by her in any action she may see fit to take.

Mrs. Heil Loyal.

Mrs. Heil at night gave an interview in which she made clear that she will stand by her husband.

"We will fight our battle against false accusations and the influence of public wrongfully informed right here in the community in which they have lived for the last fifteen years," Mrs. Heil said.

"My husband did not write those letters defaming Mrs. Moore. I do not write them. The detective tried to get me to say I did, but I didn't say it."

"I used my influence to get a commission from my husband at the suggestion of a detective. I begged Mr. Heil to tell me whether he wrote any letters to Mrs. Moore or to others regarding Mrs. Moore. He denied any knowledge of the letters. I am convinced that there has been an attempt on the part of some one to destroy the reputation of my husband and to wreck our home."

"I confronted Mrs. Moore with letters and a postal card which had been written to my husband, when he was in Detroit, last February. She admitted having written them. I begged her to have no further communication with Mr. Heil, and she promised she would not attempt to see him again."

"Perhaps Mr. Heil isn't entirely blameless. I am not trying to make him out an angel."

"I told Mr. Heil that I wanted to know the truth. We don't want to go away; we want to stay at home. Morgan Park is home."

UNLOADING FIRST ILLINOIS CAVALRY
Col. Milton J. Foreman's Roadster Being Taken from Car While Bolters from Artillery Are Looking After Other Equipment of Regiment.

None of Them Arrested for Desertion—Spend Night in Tents.

SECRETARY BAKER CONFERS.

Call and wormwood were the lot of the Illinois artillerymen last night at Fort Sheridan. The boys who wear the red cords on their hats slept again under canvas, while the boys of the yellow cord, the insignia of the cavalry service, without even a moment of lake front camp life, went at once to warm barracks.

On top of this the artillerymen were given a taste of sharp military discipline. Maj. Gen. Thomas H. Barry, commander of the central department, showed the artillerymen that even a whole regiment can be punished for the sins of an organized few. That punishment was meted out yesterday, strictly under military laws.

The order, which punished the artillerymen for complaining of the cold, taking French leave, commuting, and other sins, was in substance this: Take your transport wagons, unload the cars of the First Cavalry, and haul its equipment to barracks.

Kept Them from Barracks.

It was this order which prevented the battery boys from sleeping in the barracks last night, although earlier in the day Secretary of War Newton D. Baker had conferred with Gen. Barry and given orders that all troops should make use of the regular army barracks. It required special permission of the secretary to use the barracks at all.

The battery boys could not move the cavalry and at the same time move themselves into the barracks. They were forced to wait until today, when their wagons and their "work detail" had finished doing chores for the cavalry. Regimental officers of artillery were forced to give up their barracks to cavalrymen.

It was the morning of this work detail yesterday which caused certain afternoon papers to publish stories that sixty-six men had been placed under arrest.

Won't Be Court-martialed.

"You can say for me," said Col. Charles M. Allen of the artillery regiment, "that there is not a word of truth in the story that sixty-six men of the cavalry were placed under arrest. If they come to the barracks after living out of doors."

Although none of the artillery officers would say so for publication, it was evident that the cavalrymen were the brief visit of Secretary Baker, Maj. Gen. Barry, and Inspector General George K. Hunter. After their visit there was a general stiffening of discipline in the artillery.

Officers Not Guiltless.

It was estimated in army sources that commissioned officers of the artillery had been threatened with court martial if further mutinous conditions developed in their camps.

Capt. F. M. Course, who was artillery officer of the day in the camp, said: "We have been instructed to use our own discretion about how many men should leave camp at one time. We can go over the 5 per cent limit if we choose."

However, warning was given to the men that they must not play fast and loose with the matter of taking leave. Those who did get an opportunity to "commute" last night were warned to present in camp not later than 8 a. m. today.

Captain Goes Swimming.

Artillerymen who have complained of the cold were put to shame by Capt. Harry Johnson, who, clad in slippers and running pants and carrying his sweater stick, walked down to the lake and took a swim. The common report goes that Capt. Johnson made the trip down in twenty minutes, dodging many women visitors, and came back in five without dodging.

The artillery moved back from the lake from several hundred yards and the commissioned officers took quarters nearest the lake.

Cavalry Sleep in Barracks.

Col. Milton J. Foreman's First Cavalry spent the day detaining. With the transport wagons of the artillery, all sections were unloaded and the men slept under a real roof for the first time in months. The 300 horses brought back from the border were placed in corrals under blankets.

Hundred of friends of the cavalrymen were out to see the cavalrymen.

"We will be out and drilling tomorrow," said Col. Foreman. "The men are in fine shape, and we don't intend to lose any opportunities like the parade ground and the parade ground will discover that garrison life has some duties unheard of in field life. Details will be set to work today scrubbing floors and making beds."

President Wilson has accepted the resignations of Second Lieutenants Leo Alfred and the Fourth Infantry and Alfred N. Buck of the Seventh Infantry. No reasons for the resignations were stated.

Lieut. Buck when in Chicago in civilian clothes, is Dr. Buck. At his office last night he said he resigned to come back and attend to business. His resignation was presented nearly a month ago and he has been at home for a week.

More Bits Gleaned from Letters of a Principal

Here are one or two further bits from the letters of John Henry Heil, ousted principal of the Morgan Park high school, to Mrs. Marie Moore, wife of a dental student. Mrs. Moore declares the inferences in them that Heil's regard was reciprocated by her as figments of the pedagogical imagination.

Glad to Hear from Her.

My Dearest: It was good, so good, to hear from you again. I'm glad you had a lot of nice things, even if I did hope that mine would be a surprise and that it would come after the others were through and that you would appreciate it at least as much as anything else that might come along.

I know you think I have acted very peculiarly the past week, and perhaps I have. But I didn't know what to do. I want you today—I wanted you every day last week—just as much as I ever wanted you—but I don't want you if you think that my only reason for wanting you is the Saturday afternoon reason.

If I can't make you believe that my love for you goes way beyond that (and sometimes I fear I can't) I suppose we might not see each other—but as heaven is my witness I'd rather be with you this minute than anywhere else. I don't begin to see as much of you as I want to see you.

One in a Million.

You said once that I was "one in a million." Do you still believe it? Or, as things have turned out, do you think I am just like any other man? You know I told you I was very human—and that the whole man cared for you. And I told you that you were the only one in all the world, and I mean that, even if I did keep you out of your way last week.

"So, not because I loved you less or in an immoral fashion, but because I cared a great deal, because I think you are pure and righteous altogether, I kept away. Yes, and because I wanted to help you back, if I can, to the faith you once had in me."

Listen, dear, and believe me, if you can. No man's love is worth the price you paid for mine, but God helping me, I've tried and am still trying to make my love as nearly worth the price as it is possible to make it. I can't equal yours, I know, but I'll do the best I can.

Can't Make Him Jealous.

You can't make me jealous by letting me know that other people are nice to you, too—I am way past that. If others have made you happy this birthday time God bless 'em and you too—but I can say what I sent you, what you once said of the pen: "There couldn't be more or truer love in anything you got than in the roses I sent you—on Easter Sunday—and on May 1—the white for you who are pure of soul—the flaming

BOY FIRES INTO BATTLING GANGS

Youngster with Rifle Ends School Kids' Fight—Wounds Two.

For domination of the street and the honor of the gang, one boy, scarce turned 9, probably will die, while another is tucked in a hospital cot with a bullet wound in his leg.

The battle joined with a rush of feet and the hum of rocks. The Shields avenue gang, looking home from school, clashed with the Canal street gang at Stewart avenue and West Twenty-fifth street. By common consent the rival bands flung aside books to settle with fists, feet, and rocks the title to supremacy in the ballfield.

Hurries Home for Gun.

Nine year old Martin Corson, of 508 West Twenty-fifth street, leader of the Canal street gang, and David Downs, aged 10, of 225 West Twenty-sixth street, took the brunt for their street. The fist power of this pair of champions was turning the course of the fight when Frank Young of the Shields avenue organization suddenly detached himself from the battle and sped to his home at 302 West Twenty-sixth street. He came back with a .22 caliber repeating rifle and at short range began to pump bullets into the turmoil.

At the first crack Martin Corson went down with a shot above the left eye which entered the brain. David Downs fell next with a wound in the leg. The rest of the Canal street gang fled and the Shields avenue gang scattered for hiding places.

Three Coppers Capture Boy.

Detective Sergeant Desmond and two policemen captured Frank Young in the vicinity of the shooting. He still carried the rifle. Young declared that members of the Canal street gang had recently given him a beating. He said he used the rifle only to frighten the rival gang and did not know any one was wounded until told by the police.

Young Corson and David Downs were taken to the People's hospital, where it is said the former probably will die. Young is in custody of the Twenty-second street police. He attends the Ward school, at West Twenty-seventh and Shields avenues, while Corson and Downs are members of the Sheridan school, at Wallace and West Twenty-seventh streets.

According to the story told by Downs, he and the other boys were playing on the railroad embankment when Young approached with a rifle and opened fire.

FOURTH SHIP IS LOST IN LAKE STORM; DEAD NOW 50.

Twenty-three in Crew of Merida Gone Down, Two of Whom Are Chicagoans—Loss $325,000.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 23.—The finding of six bodies in Lake Erie today confirmed fears entertained that the steamer Merida, owned by the Valley Camp Ship-bunk company of Milland, Ontario, was wrecked in the fierce gale which swept the lake Friday night and in which three other vessels, the steamer Marshall F. Butters, the whaleback James B. Colgate, and the schooner D. L. Flier, were lost.

The Merida carried a crew of twenty-three. Twenty-one on the Colgate and six on the Flier were lost in the storm, making the total lives lost in the wrecks fifty. Another was added to the list today when it was learned that Walter J. Tede of Redwood, N. Y., a seaman of the barge Isaac L. Bell, was washed overboard while the ship was at anchor off Bar Point during the storm.

The property loss on the four ships is estimated at $325,000. Included in the crew of the Merida were two Chicagoans, Engineer Joseph O'Connor and Thomas H. Moore.

New Orleans, La., Oct. 23.—Sixteen members of the crew of the steamer L. Edward Hines, including Capt. F. M. McKelvie Jr. of New York, were drowned when the steamer was sunk in the Caribbean sea, forty-five miles east of Belize, British Honduras, in the tropical hurricane on Oct. 15, according to a wireless message received here.

SQUATTER BATTLES POLICE TO DEATH; 7 SHOT; 2 DIE.

Bluecoats, Sheriffs, and Marines Aid in Hour and a Half Siege of Hut in New York.

Whitestown, N. Y., Oct. 23.—Paul Stier, sheriff of Queens county, was shot and killed and four policemen and a deputy sheriff were wounded late today by Frank Taft, a squatter near here, before Taft eventually was killed by Police Sergeant James Fitzgerald after a siege of an hour and a half in which policemen, deputy sheriffs and bluecoats from the United States torpedo boat Hensley tried to capture Taft.

Sheriff Stier, accompanied by a deputy and a policeman, went to Taft's shanty, located in a strip of woods, to arrest him on an order for contempt of court. When the officers informed Taft of their mission he picked up a shotgun and fired at them. The sheriff dropped to the four mortally wounded. Police reinforcements soon arrived and the shanty was surrounded. Taft climbed to the roof of the hut, where he continued to give battle until he was shot down.

UPHOLDS HEALTH OFFICER WHO EXPELLED A DUCHESS

Virginia Department of Health Approves Action Against Former Miss Theodora Shonta.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 23.—The Virginia state department of health today approved the act of its agent who recently ordered the departure from Hot Springs, Va., of the Duchess of Chaulmors and her 8 year old son, who came from New York in violation of the Virginia quarantine regulations against infantile paralysis. The duchess, who was Miss Theodora Shonta of New York, had fled a protest with the Virginia health department.

Another letter reads: "John has gotten into trouble over some woman. I am afraid it is serious and may cost him his position or even get him into jail. It hasn't got into the papers yet; that is one good thing. I am doing everything I can."

Her relatives point to these letters as proof against the rumor that Mrs. Heil may have written the poison pen notes herself.

BATTERY BOYS UNLOAD CAVALRY AS PUNISHMENT

NEWS OF THE FINANCIAL WORLD

United States Steel common stock

representing the prevailing market conditions, made a new high record at 12 1/2. Around this buying was a large volume of business in industrial. The feeling of bullishness extended to the railroad issues, resulting in a day of new high records. Steel issues, copper shares, sugar stocks, and leather securities were all firm, with gains of from 2 to 4 points.

Wall street is reaching the belief that the current market movement finds its motive in the continued industrial earnings, with the railroads making a good second. Further, the companies enjoying such earnings are not paying them out. The distributions in the way of dividends are from one-fifth to one-tenth of the increase in treasury balances.

Export Continued Bull Market

The conditions being accepted as accounting for the widespread market movement. Steel common is higher than two weeks ago, when the advent of a submarine caused such a striking drop in prices.

The east appears to be well committed to the forecast that bullish operations will continue, with new groups participating and gains in profits being constantly shown.

So far as surface indications go, the possible result of the national election is being ignored. The large interests seem to figure that the war will continue for at least another year, that the influx of gold consequent will continue, and that there must follow a degree of inflation which will carry prices higher. Mr. Wilson is regarded as not having shown any antipathy to "big business," and the war and conditions which it brings about are relied on to overcome the absence of possible tariff legislation.

Shippers Meeting

Members of the National Industrial Traffic league, the organization of shipper, met in Chicago Thursday and Friday, Nov. 9 and 10, at the Hotel Sherman to outline the position the commercial interests will take before the new committee in the railroad investigation. The hearings will open Nov. 20 at Washington.

The outcome of the conference are being awaited with interest by railroad officials, the feeling being that the league, representing the largest commercial houses and manufacturers of the country, will be justly commending the greater part of the public speculation and investment interest. Central Leather was one of the important points of interest yesterday.

Leathers are Gaining

Leather securities, next to United States Steel, are just now commanding the greater part of the public speculation and investment interest. Central Leather was one of the important points of interest yesterday.

It is estimated by leather interests, and borne out by the statement to be published soon by the company, that the quarter ended Sept. 30 will show the largest figures of any similar period in the company's history. These forecasts place earnings for the common stock at over $1,500,000, or above 9 per cent. That is at a rate of better than 30 per cent. a year. Estimates for the current quarter are more optimistic, ranging from an annual rate of 80 to as high as 90 a share.

Chicago Securities

Chicago stocks were irregular. National Carbon common and Both Flashes common were just features. The former advanced 6 1/2 points to 256, Both Flashes common touched 60, against a close at 57 1/2 on Saturday.

Pennaco stock was up 1 point, while B. & O. advanced 2 points from 104 to 106, and 105 1/2, a gain of 1/2 over the initial price. For the first time in weeks there was some trading in Western Stone. The price was 7 1/2.

In the bond department quotations were steady.

Money and Exchange

Money rates in Chicago steady at 3 1/2 per cent on call money, 4 1/2 per cent on commercial paper, and 4 1/2 per cent over the counter. New York exchange sold at 60 discount and par. Chicago bank clearings were $75,816,297.

Stewart-Warner Earnings

Stewart-Warner Speedometer earned for the three months period, ended Sept. 30, was $1,500,000, or 30 per cent on the $10,000,000 common stock issue. They compare with $705,254 earned the quarter ended June 30. The earnings for the nine months ended Sept. 30 were $1,500,000, or at the rate of 30 per cent, the above sheet, issued yesterday, follows:

Central Leather earnings for the quarter ended Sept. 30 are being estimated at better than $3,500,000, or 9 per cent on the common stock and at the rate of 30 per cent a year.

Directors of the Cuban Cigar Sugar company are expected to place the common stock on an 8 per cent dividend basis, beginning with the first quarter of next year.

The total value of Canadian fisheries during the last fiscal year was about $30,000,000, an increase of $4,000,000, compared with the previous year.

It was reported from New York that the Pugh Stores subscription books showed the stock greatly oversubscribed. The books closed yesterday.

Earnings of the United States Steel for the quarter ended Sept. 30 are being estimated at better than $3,500,000, or 9 per cent on the common stock and at the rate of 30 per cent a year.

INVESTMENT FEATURES

The New Manhattan Electrical Supply Co., Inc. will take over as a going concern the business of the present company, which owns and occupies the building at 17 Park Place, New York, where head offices and principal stores are located; also operates two large manufacturing plants in Jersey City and two in Northern Ohio; also retail stores in New York, Chicago and St. Louis, with a sales office in San Francisco.

BUSINESS

The Company manufactures and sells the celebrated "Red Seal" Dry Battery and "Hi-Up" Dry Battery, and deals in a comprehensive line of electrical appliances at its various stores.

Business was founded in 1889 with a capital of $1,300. Gross sales in 1901 were $902,324, and in 1915 were $3,644,037. To August 31, 1916, gross sales were $2,812,040.

EARNINGS

Current net earnings applicable to dividends, more than five times first preferred dividend requirements. Two years and eight months to August 31, 1916, average earnings more than four times first preferred dividend requirements.

ASSETS

Net tangible assets, exclusive of good will, patent rights and trade marks, as at August 31, 1916, were over $2,490,000, or $166 for each share of first preferred stock, and net quick assets more than $1,600,000, or $106 per share.

The Company is not a borrower, its only debts being current accounts payable. As of August 31st, there was $489,847.91 cash in bank.

PREFERRED STOCK PROVISIONS

The new Corporation will have no mortgage or funded debt of any kind. The agreement of association will provide that no bonds or securities having priority to the first preferred stock may be issued, nor preferred stock increased without written consent of at least three-fourths of the issued and outstanding stocks of all classes. Sinking Fund, beginning October 1, 1917, of $30,000 per annum, payable $7,500 quarterly to and including January 1, 1921, and thereafter $40,000 per annum, to be applied to the retirement of first preferred stock at not over $112.50 per share.

GENERAL

Officers and Directors of the present Company, who have been associated with the building up of the business, will remain in control of the new Corporation.

Legal matters pertaining to this issue are being passed upon by Messrs. Hays, Kaufman & Lindheim and Messrs. Rounds, Hatch, Dillingham & Debevoise; accounting reports by Messrs. Marwick, Mitchell, Peat & Company, chartered accountants, and physical appraisals by the Coats & Burckhard Company.

SYSTEMATIC SAVING

Induced by

"The Twenty Payment Plan"

This plan enables one in any station of life to accumulate high-grade, dividend-paying securities, and receive, right at the start, the benefit of the dividends disbursed. Every payment made under its terms marks definite progress toward the complete ownership of high-grade stocks.

How to utilize the plan to the best possible advantage in connection with securities that possess the greatest investment and market-profit value, consistent with stability of principal, is currently outlined in our fortnightly publication "Investment Opportunities."

Those interested in getting the most out of their surplus funds should not fail to regularly receive this valuable publication. It will be sent free of charge, beginning with the present issue, upon request for 31-CIT, including booklet explaining "The Twenty Payment Plan."

The Supreme Dessert Flavors in Vials

A new-grade gelatin dessert is now sold in Chicago. It is made by an expert who for 17 years has made these desserts a study. The men behind it control the output of an extra-fine gelatin.

Each flavor is made from the fruit itself. Each comes in a separate vial—always fresh.

Jiffy-Jell will give you a new idea of these fruity, quick desserts. Try it now.

Household Chemistry Arouses Westfield

Massachusetts has been called the home of educational innovations. Its history pages are covered with the records of achievements of noted educators.

It was not strange, then, that this new idea of practical chemistry—the household kind—should have been born in the old Bay state.

Lewis B. Allyn was the first instructor to teach its precepts. The idea was conceived by Prof. Clarence purities in foods, laundering wools, keeping the air pure, and the like.

Little did they realize that this home usable chemistry course would some day be the talking subject of the nation, or that Westfield's solution of its pure food supply would be emulated by cities and towns throughout the United States.

After the girls who participated in the midnight luncheon had recovered from the effects of eating the adulterated strawberry jam and had resumed

"RESULTS OF THESE ANALYSES WERE PLAINLY SHOWN."

A. Brodeur, principal of the State Normal school at Westfield.

Prof. Brodeur reasoned that the kind of chemistry which would assist in the management of the home would be the best kind to teach prospective girl teachers. He knew that such knowledge would be imparted by them to many other schools, and through them to thousands and thousands of homes.

Education's object is to benefit society, the uplifting of the individual and the home. This home "usable chemistry" seemed the practical sort of a study that would really benefit society. The more he thought about it the more convinced he was of its merits.

Prof. Brodeur looked about to find a teacher who would work in sympathy with his ideals. He decided that Prof. Lewis B. Allyn of Boston was the one man qualified to teach it his way.

He sought Prof. Allyn and found in him a ready counselor and a teacher who believed as he did. It did not take them long to arrive at an agreement.

Prof. Allyn took immediate charge of the chemistry classes at the State Normal school. From that time on interest in the class increased. It was one of the most popular classes of the school.

While other schools in other towns were studying the strata of the earth or the stars of the heaven, Westfield became interested in the practical study of the food it was buying and consuming. The girls of other schools were storing away their knowledge of the earth and stars for future use when they too would be teachers.

Westfield Normal school girls, however, were studying and making use of their pure food knowledge. Others were learning from them, even at school.

The two teachers were astounded at the working out of their ideals. Yet they had built better than they knew.

Their idea was that home chemistry should be of practical use about the house in putting up preserves, dyeing cloths, removing stains, detecting im-their studies in the chemistry classes, a new line of investigation was started under the supervision of Prof. Allyn. Instead of removing stains from cloths and learning the effects of bacteria, yeast and molds in canning and preserving, they now began to look into the chemical composition of food products.

Samples of food were bought at Westfield stores and taken to the Normal school laboratory for examination. There was no lack of skill or zeal in the work of the chemistry classes in this new venture. Hundreds of food stuffs were collected this way and analyzed. Samples labeled, with the results of the analyses, were placed on exhibition in large glass cabinets. The exhibits grew rapidly and took on the aspects of a museum.

Residents of the town took a lively interest in Prof. Allyn and his chemistry classes. Students were accosted on the street by an inquiring housewife who wanted to know about this or that food product she had been buying. Interest grew and grew as the work progressed.

You might have searched all the schools in the United States without coming across so enthusiastic a class as that represented by the girls in the chemistry classes at the State Normal school.

An upheaval followed. First in Westfield and then throughout the nation. Practical chemistry proved to be the effective weapon needed by the food consuming public to protect itself against the abuses perpetrated by the food faker.

The manufacturer kept the formula of his foods locked in the sealed package. None dared to peer in. The buyer accepted the maker's statement with a resigned air "that it was hoped it was as good as it looked." (It was often a hopeless hope, until Prof. Allyn with test tube and microscope turned the broad light of chemistry on the food and laid bare its secrets.)

The food faker raved and fought against the sunshine of knowledge.

The public applauded and profited by the revelations.
